ROUTE OF MISSING PLANE. Solid line shows route of missing U. S. military plane carrying diplomatic cargo and four crewmen. Hungarian and Romanian border guards fired on the craft as it passed near their borders en route from Erding to Belgrade. Broken line indicates possible route west from Zagreb where plane last was heard from. Pilot apparently became lost and followed Drava River instead of the Sava River from Ljubljana to Belgrade.

May Be Down Behind Iron Curtain

Check Conflicting Reports On Missing U.S. Plane

ROME, Nov. 23 (AP)—Clearing skies sent ground and air searchers out in force today to pin down reports on a U. S. Air Force plane missing since Monday with four men aboard.

One unconfirmed report said wreckage had been sighted among the jagged peaks of northeast Italy's Dolomite mountains, 40 miles east of Bolzano.

Another report, from a traveler arriving in Vienna, said the plane was shot down by Romanian army border guards as it touched the Iron Curtain on its flight from Germany to Belgrade.

Neither report could be confirmed officially.

Clouds and fogs which previously had hampered the search cleared today. Twenty U. S. planes based on Treviso Air Field, in northeast Italy, swept the skies above that section and Yugoslavia.

Checking Report

Italian police and U. S. ground searchers were working in the Dolomites, trying to check the report of the sighted wreckage.

The U.S. embassy in Belgrade said Tuesday that the pilot of the C-47 transport plane reported being fired on by Hungarian and Romanian border guards.

But the embassy report said he apparently realized he was lost and turned back. In two later reports he said he was near the Croatian capital of Zagreb, headed towards Udine, Italy,

The four occupants of the other car were released after treatment at Marion City Hospital. James Breece was taken to the Jane Case Hospital in Delaware Thursday. All suffered cuts and bruises, and none was seriously injured, police said.

The accident occurred as the Salisbury car drove from Edgewood Dr. onto S. Prospect St. into the path of the Clay auto, police said.

The cars collided head-on and after the collision the Clay car

Fire Causes $250 Damage

Damage estimated at $250 to $300 resulted from a fire of undetermined cause in a double house at 758 Fairfield St. Thursday at 10:13 a. m. The flames started between the first floor ceiling and the upstairs floor and burned some siding off the house.

The first floor was occupied by the Howard Grubbs family and the upstairs was vacant.

The call was answered by firemen from the Central and W. Center St. stations.

Prisoners Plead for Dope

Addicts Wound Selves To Get Back to Hospital

Two admitted dope addicts being held at the Marion County jail for the Grand Jury, were taken to City Hospital this morning after slashing themselves in the cell block at the jail.

The men are William Archie Harvin, 41, of Leesburg, Fla., and Hoyt Robert Reynolds, 36, of Montgomery, Ala. Neither is believed to be seriously injured, Sheriff LeRoy Retterer reported.

Harvin slashed his throat while Reynolds cut his arm just above the wrist. They used safety razor blades.

Sheriff Retterer said he believed the men cut themselves to gain their return to City Hospital rather than in an attempt to take their lives.

Both men were taken to City Hospital Tuesday after being bound over from Marion Municipal Court.

Plead for "Shot"

Prior to their arraignments, effects of previous doses of narcotics had worn off and they had pleaded with police for a "shot."

At the hospital, they were given treatment in an effort to control and cure their longing for narcotics. Hospital treatments included injections of water with one-eighth of a grain of a type of narcotic, hospital attaches told the sheriff.

After being transferred to the county jail yesterday afternoon, the two continued their pleas for the dope. Sheriff Retterer said they begged for the "stuff" all last night, waking him up with their pleas.

They are being treated at the hospital where they are being guarded by sheriff's deputies.

Arrested Saturday

The men were arrested Saturday afternoon by city police when they attempted to have a prescription calling for narcotics filled at the Hennecy & Cooper Drug Store. Both admitted being dope addicts and were found to have narcotics in their possession.

They were arraigned Tuesday morning and pleaded guilty. Both were bound over to the Grand Jury under $1,000 bonds.

Sheriff Retterer pointed out that no county in Ohio was equipped with equipment to care for dope addicts. He said these men should be placed under the care of federal authorities to insure proper treatment in penal institutions.

Charges Filed

Reynolds was arraigned on charges of obtaining drugs under an altered prescription, obtaining drugs under a false address, having in posession instruments for injecting drugs and having narcotics in possession. Harvin was charged with having in his possession narcotics and instruments for injecting narcotics.

They were traveling through Ohio when arrested.

They cut themselves at about 11:15, using razor blades. Sheriff Retterer said blades were customarily available to all prisoners. The men, confined in the same cell, were rushed to the hospital in a Schaffner-Denzer ambulance.

What to do with the men when they recover from their wounds is a problem for county authorities. They are not equipped to treat dope addicts and the men will be on their hands until their cases are disposed of by the Grand Jury. The next meeting of the jury has not yet been scheduled.

Says Some Rail Workers In Reds' Grip

Senate Committee Reports Communists Dominate Union

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23—(AP)—The Senate internal security subcommittee said last night that some railroad dining car workers are in the grip of a Communist-run union, and that "it is imperative that this Communist control be broken."

The subcommittee said the union members could be used by Red party leaders as "a message channel as effective and more secret than the United States mails."

The subcommittee made public a report to the Senate along with more than 150 pages of testimony taken at private sessions in July, August and September during an inquiry into the Dining Car and Railroad Food Workers Union.

Directed By Party

The subcommittee said the policies and activities of the small, independent union, ever since its organization in 1947, "have been directed from the Communist party headquarters in New York City."

At present the union is certified as bargaining agent for only about 2,200 dining car employes on the Pennsylvania Railroad, but subcommittee chairman McCarran (D-Nev) said it is carrying on "an intensive membership campaign" in an effort to establish itself on other lines from coast to coast.

Through the union, the senator said in a statement accompanying the report, "the Communist party already has established the nucleus of a courier system on the railroads for communication between its underground leaders."

The exact membership of the union was not established in the hearings. Various testimony put the number of its members as between 1,000 and 1,800.

The subcommittee recommended legislation to deny certification as a bargaining agent to any Com-

Nabs 1 Hurt In Leap; 2 Still Sought

Smuggled Hack-Saw Blades Used By Bank Robber, Burglar

LIMA, O., Nov. 23 — (AP) — Three men sawed their way out of Lima State Hospital for the criminal insane Thursday night.

Two still are at large. They are Michael Chepak, 31, convicted Youngstown burglar, and Robert C. Andross, 26, Cleveland bank robber.

The third escapee, John Auld, 30, Toledo armed robber, injured his leg jumping from a window and was captured three hours later.

Auld limped about 1,500 yards to an automobile, where guards found him sitting, said Dr. R. E. Bushong, hospital superintendent.

Smuggled Blades

Night supervisor Fred G. Rucker said the men forced their way into the occupational therapy room, where Auld was an orderly. They sawed through window bars with smuggled hack-saw blades. The escape was discovered when patients were counted at the evening meal about 6 p.m.

All three men had been committed to the hospital for observation from Ohio Penitentiary.

Rucker said neither Chepak or Andross is considered "dangerous from an insane or sex standpoint," but either would be "dangerous if cornered, as they have long terms to serve."

Andross was sentenced to 20 years in Ohio Penitentiary for his part in the $34,000 holdup of the Superior Savings & Loan Assn. of Cleveland Jan. 11, 1950.

Andross and two accomplices who held up the bank were drivers for a taxi cab company at the time, and had no police records.

Escape Try Foiled

Just before he went to the penitentiary, Andross and another prisoner tried to break out of the Cuyahoga County jail. They carved bars of soap into the shape of guns, blackened them with shoe polish and tried to frighten guards into letting them out. It didn't work.

On the way to the penitentiary, Andross and a companion attempted to overpower two deputy sheriffs, but couldn't do it because of being handcuffed.

Discontinuance Of NYC Train Stops Approved

The State Utilities Commission today formally approved the New York Central Railroad's discontinuance of services to six Ohio communities, including Caledonia and Martel, The Associated Press reported.

The railroad had asked that it be allowed to discontinue these train stops: Train No. 424 at Delaware, No. 426 at Fairborn, No. 421 at New London, Crestline and Fairborn, and No. 446 at Caledonia and Martel.

The communities are in the NYC's Big Four district. The trains were not discontinued, only the stops.

Sixth Plymouth Owner Loses Spare Tire To Thief

Marion police today pressed their search for a fastidious spare tire thief who seems to prefer tires from Plymouth automobiles.

They received a report of the theft of a spare from a Plymouth auto Thursday — the sixth such report in recent weeks.

The spare tire and wheel valued at $25 were taken from the trunk of a 1941 model owned by Harry Applegett of 935 Merkle Ave. sometime during the week.

The theft brings to more than $200 the total loss from a wave of auto parts thefts in the past two weeks, police report.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Temperatures will average five or six degrees below normal. Normal maximum 44 north to 49 south. Normal minimum 31. Colder Saturday and Sunday and continued cold through the middle of the week. Precipitation totaling one-half inch to one inch occurring as rain changing to snow tonight. Snow flurries over the week end, and rain or snow likely Monday and probably Wednesday.

Agree On Wording Of Buffer Zone

Three Tough Problems Still Remain on Agenda

MUNSAN, Korea, Nov. 23 — (AP) — Truce negotiators reached agreement on a buffer zone clause today, opening the way for a possible armistice in Korea by Christmas.

"We have reached agreement in so far as the wording is concerned," Rear Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, U.N. command subcommitteeman told correspondents. "The only thing left now is for the liaison officers who are working on the map to finish."

Agreement on the buffer zone issue came at the 20th subcommittee meeting in Panmunjom.

If the agreement is approved by the full truce delegations, as expected, negotiators would have 30 days in which to solve 3 other tough problems—supervision of the armistice, exchange of war prisoners and recommendations to the belligerent governments.

Fighting will continue in the war, now 17 months old, until all of these points are settled.

Maj. Gen. Henry I. Hodes, chief U.N. command subcommitteeman indicated the full 5-man delegations could meet Sunday to approve the buffer zone agreement worked out by subcommittees.

Full Program

Lt. Col. Howard S. Levie, U.N. command spokesman, said the Allies will present a full program for solving the armistice supplement as soon as the full delegations approve the buffer zone plan.

Levie said Hodes has suggested that 2 subcommittees be put to work simultaneously on separate problems to speed a truce agreement.

Staff officers started mapping the actual line of battle contact Friday. Levie said only two or three major differences developed along the entire battlefront. Hodes said they may complete the job Saturday.

The line they draw is to become the formal cease-fire line if an armistice is signed within 30 days.

"We are waiting until whatever time is appropriate to meet again and make—we hope sometime tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon — the final settlement on the line," Hodes said.

The staff officers meet again at 10 a.m. Saturday (8 p.m. Friday, EST).

Hodes said that if the staff officers disagree on just where the battle line is, the subcommittees will settle the dispute.

Final approval of the buffer zone agreement was delayed during Friday's 50 minute session because Communist delegates wanted to check the translation into Chinese and Korean of the U.N. command revision of the Reds' own cease-fire proposals.

Call Recess

They called for a recess to compare the versions. Later a spokesman said the "wording" was approved.

The plan provides that the present battle line shall be the formal cease-fire line if an armistice is signed within 30 days.

If no agreement is reached before the deadline, a new demarcation line incorporating changes resulting from military action will be drawn just before an armistice is signed. Then both armies will pull back to create a buffer zone 2½ miles wide.

The plan states specifically that the war will continue during the 30-day period.

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, official U.N. command spokesman, said the agreement would give the Allies "exactly what they asked for at the beginning of the talks in July."

Friday's agreement followed a U.N. command concession on one point.

In their original 30-day plan the Allies proposed that if an armistice agreement is not reached before the deadline, a new cease-fire line be drawn. The Reds suggested that instead the line be revised just before the armistice is signed to include changes which may result through battle action. The U.N. delegates accepted this.

Nuckols was asked whether the Allies had abandoned their oppo-

10 Superforts Plaster New Red Air Base

Strike Made Near Manchuria, South Of Yalu River

SEOUL, Nov. 23 — (AP) — Ten superforts roared through intense flak and an angry cordon of MIG-15s last night and plastered a new Communist jet air base 2 miles from Red China's Manchurian frontier.

The Far East Air Forces in Tokyo said all B-29s returned to their bases. It described the results as "good."

The raid was the first bombing attack on Uiju, in northwest Korea only 2 miles south of the Yalu River boundary.

This strike so close to the "sanctuary of Manchuria" pointed up the mounting Allied effort to block off the growing Communist air threat and keep the Reds from setting up bases in North Korea closer to the battle line.

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of the U.S. Air Force, warned in Washington that Red China has emerged suddenly as a major air power. He said his new-born air

Hunter Shoots 9-Pound Rabbit "In Self-Defense"

Hunter Bill Turner of 440 Davids St. is telling friends today he shot a 40-inch, 9-pound rabbit "in self-defense" yesterday.

He killed the rabbit, one of the largest ever seen in Marion County, along a railroad track near Marion yesterday.

"At first I backed off," Bill told friends, "but then I decided I'd better shoot it before it chased me home."

The rabbit is about three or four times bigger than the average cottontail, veteran hunters report.

Santa Claus Comes to Town in Christmas Parade

RAIN and gloomy weather failed to keep many Marions from turning out for the annual Christmas parade today.

Church groups, school bands, choral units—and of course, Santa Claus — participated. They told the Christmas story in a group of floats and carols.

Church floats depicted various scenes from "The Christmas Story," general theme of the afternoon parade.

Santa Claus brought up the rear, riding in a float surrounded by the Harding High School Band.

THE PARADE FORMED at 12:15 at Blaine Ave. and W. Center St. It moved through the business district at 1 p.m. City police directed the parade through the business area. Members of the Retail Merchants Division of the Marion Chamber of Comerce and the Junior Chamber of Commerce served as marshals and directed the units.

Floats in the parade were sponsored by various churches in Marion County. This is the first year churches took part in the annual parade but current plans call for continued church participation, which was directed this year by the Rev. R. W. Faulkner, the Rev. Ashley Booth, the Rev. Evan Owens, the Rev. J. B. Holloway and a committee of representatives from all churches.

FOLLOWING THE PARADE, Santa Claus set up his Christmas headquarters at his office on the courthouse lawn. He will be in his headquarters every shopping day from 2:30 until closing time for visits with children. From 1 to 2:30 p.m. each day he will visit downtown stores.

The first unit of the parade gave a general announcement of the pageant with the LaRue High School Band playing "Oh Come All Ye Faithful." Central Christian Church presented a float of a large open Bible, setting the theme of "The Christmas Story."

THE SCEOND UNIT, was headed by a float sponsored by the Caledonia churches telling of human bondage and of a world crying for help. The scene depicted the carol, "Come Emmanuel," and was accompanied by the Eastside Mothersingers.

Two trumpeters heralded the scene of "The Annunciation" prepared by the Prospect Street Methodist Church. The float showed an angel telling Mary that she is to be the Mother of the Savior.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT to the shepherds of the birth of Jesus in Bethlehem was shown by a float by the Trinity Baptist Church. Members of the First Evangelical and Reformed Church followed singing "Hark the Herald Angels Sing."

The next scene showed the birthplace of the Christ Child in the stable. The story was depicted by a float by the Green Camp Baptist Church. The Harding High School a capella choir sang "Silent Night" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem." "The Nativity" scene was presented by an Emmanuel Lutheran Church float.

THE RECAPITULATION of "The Christmas Story" was climaxed by the fifth unit of the parade with the group depicting "The Adoration." The First EUB Church float illustrated "We Three Kings of Orient Are" and was followed by the Marion Serenaders singing "Joy to the World" and "We Three Kings." A float on "The Adoration," leading all to worship and adore Christ was prepared by Epworth Methodist Church.

Christmas street lights in the city will be turned on tonight for the holiday season. Decorations, including nearly $1,000 worth of new materials, were placed on the streets Tuesday.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON

CRIME does pay—about $30 a month.

Although a big time bookie like Brooklyn's 20 million dollar-a-year horseman, Harry Gross, rates a soft job in a prison laundry because he's in a local stir (jail), the Federal pens throw the gentry into useful factory work in one of the country's biggest industries—unnoticed until the unions began complaining about competition of jail labor.

After the union chiefs and some U. S. Senators protested bitterly that the prisoners are literally stealing jobs from unemployed workers on the outside, I found something here called Federal Prison Industries, Inc., which tries to make men out of the rank-and-file of Murder, Inc., and other such allied trades who get themselves caught. For their honest sweat they get a dollar a day.

Victor Riesel

Director of the Federal Prison Industries, Inc., is the exasperated James V. Bennett, who wondered why the unions didn't come to him before they blasted his work—which apparently is considerable.

Doubling as director of the Bureau of Prisons, Mr. Bennett assigns his convict labor to 52 different trades in 20 Federal penitentiaries - and does a $20,000,000-a-year business which actually turns in a $1,500,000 profit annually. This, I judge, the government can use in its present condition. The money rolls right back into the Treasury—rehabilitating somewhat the budget director's good humor as well as the delinquency of Bennett's jailbirds.

Mr. BENNETT SAYS please pass on the fact that in addition to the profit, his Prison Industries, Inc., also defrays some of the operating costs of the big houses. In Atlanta, he claims, the cotton textile mill there paid for the prison's entire operating cost, relieving the taxpayers somewhat.

If the taxpayers haven't really felt relief from this operation in Atlanta, then GI kids in Korea have. Much of Atlanta's mill products is used for tents, litters, tarpaulins and belts—all made of canvas (duck) which is listed among the Defense Dept.'s critical war items.

It was the pen in Terre Haute, Ind., which irked the labor leaders when its mill was awarded a contract for 250,000 woolen blankets worth almost $2,000,000. This was labeled by the CIO as unfair "rivalry from the highly regulated efforts of prison labor."

IT WAS DENOUNCED at the CIO convention, and rolled up into a series of national protests. At a time of wide "distress unemployment" in New England, the union charged, this was no time to feed work into prisons—especially when some small community could have been kept alive by these contracts. Emil Rieve's Textile Workers' Union experts came out fighting with the charge that 150 jobless workers could have been employed for a full year turning out this military equipment.

But, Mr. Bennett, with 17,000 killers, sluggers, muggers and unspecialized crooks on his hands, retorts that his interest is not in making money for the government, but in rehabilitating these men and women so they don't go out and slash up society again. In most state prisons, the inmates sit around idly and plan for the next robbery. But Prison Industries, Inc., takes its rehabilitation program seriously.

The prison corporation is run by a board of directors, made up of industry, agriculture, consumer and labor (George Meany of the AFL) representatives who sit with the Atty. Gen. and Defense Dept. officials. They met most recently in Atlanta on Oct. 29. It's this board which orders service shoes made at Leavenworth for the Army; steel shelving and furniture, file cabinets, and hospital cabinets at Lewisburg; cotton garments and wooden furniture and chairs at Texarkana and Chillicothe.

MR. BENNETT is perplexed, resigned and seemingly wearied by the political and labor thunder which descended on his prison corporation in the past month. He says that the pens have "traditionally" whipped out material during war crises—with his shops working 'round the clock in the past upheaval. He presumes this criticism will hurt his "Operation Rehabilitation."

All he asks now is that the union chiefs come in and talk to him. He knows their unemployment problem is tough, but should he have 17,000 idle prisoners on his hands, it'd be tougher on him. Wildcatting prisoners don't just walk out; they break out.

The Day After

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

'TWAS the day after Thanksgiving. Wilbur Peeble looked pretty feeble as he tottered into the office of his wife's favorite psychiatrist.

"This is a surprise" said Dr. Libidosis, "I was expecting Mrs. Peeble."

"I decided to fill Trellis Mae's appointment for her today," said Wilbur.

"H-m-m, that's rather unusual, I must say. But lie down and take the load of your mind."

Wilbur took off his shoes and sank exhausted on the couch. He sighed tiredly.

"Now, just start talking," said Dr. Libidosis soothingly. "Say anything that comes into your mind."

Hal Boyle

"I came to see you about our Thanksgiving Day party yesterday, Doc. I had my family over for dinner—mother, brother Elmo, brother Clarence, his wife, Fay, and their two kids, and my sister Gloria and her boy friend, Roscoe. I think it's nice to have the family get together like that on holidays, don't you, Doc?"

"Tell me what happened," said the psychiatrist.

"WELL, EVERYTHING went wrong from the start," said Wilbur. "Trellis Mae was making the turkey stuffing, and mama came into the kitchen and said, 'Wilbur likes more onion in the stuffing than that, dear.' And she put on an apron and pitched right in to help. Don't you think that was nice of her?"

"Ummmmmm," said the doctor. "Continue."

"Well, the family got to talking about old times, and brother Elmo began kidding me about Esmeralda, my old high school sweetheart. He said she still asked him about me everytime she saw him. Of course, Trellis Mae isn't usually jealous, but—."

"Of course not," agreed the doctor, "Go on."

"Well, while we were discussing that the turkey got burned. Then my two nephews got hungry, and we gave them each a drumstick to quiet them. Well, you know boys will be boys. They began to hit each other with the drumsticks and got gravy stains all over our new sofa.

"OH, YES, AND IT" was during dinner that Clarence broke the television set. It was a pure accident. He just got up and started twirling the knobs fast, and something broke. It might have happened to anybody."

"Yes, yes. And then?"

"Well, after dinner we were having wine and Fay, my sister-in-law says, 'I don't see how you live in the style you do on the money Wilbur makes.' And Trellis Mae snaps back, 'How do you know how much he makes?'

"It got kind of strained after that, Doc, and I opened up some more wine to make everybody feel better. Then a young couple, friends of Gloria and Roscoe, dropped in unexpectedly. They had some wine, too, and somebody asked whether anybody remembered how to do the Charleston.

"I guess it was Gloria that tore the hole in our rug, Doc. She had high heels on. But it wasn't a really big tear in the rug, and poor Gloria twisted her ankle so bad we had to call in a doctor who lives in the building."

"Anything else?" sighed the psychiatrist.

"WELL, LATER brother Elmo—he's the singer in the family—organized a quartet. He insisted on throwing open the window and serenading the neighbors upstairs. I guess they were the ones who called the police, and broke up the party. Now the problem—."

"Oh, I wouldn't worry to much," said Dr. Libidosis, "You simply have a mild post-holiday emotional trauma."

"Me?" said Wilbur indignantly. "There's nothing wrong with me. I came to see you about Trellis Mae. When I told her this morning I had invited my folks back for Christmas dinner, she just seemed to go all to pieces.

"What I want to know, Doc, is—why does my wife hate my family?"

Typical Journalist

By Inez Robb

THE other evening, I was reading a smart, sophisticated piece in a smart, sophisticated magazine about a smart, sophisticated French character, Raymond Rouleau.

Mr. Rouleau is a French actor and director who has been imported to liven up the Broadway season, which could use it.

Anyway, Mr. Rouleau told the reporter that in Europe he is famous for a series of movies in which he plays the principal character, identified by Mr. Rouleau as a "a typical journalist."

Inez Robb

"He drinks, runs after women but he invariably makes a fool out of the police," was Mr. Rouleau's further description of his typical journalist.

Now this was very interesting to me, as it is my experience—gained, I must admit, entirely in city rooms rather than in the movies—that the typical journalist is a staid, sober citizen, married, the father of 2.3 children, dedicated to supporting his ulcer on a milk diet and unable to fix a parking ticket on a dull day.

SO I DID a galloping poll of the city room with the following results—

Mr Robert (Bob) Considine, the all-around journalist," when asked if he fitted Mr. Rouleau's description of the typical journalist, retired into gloomy silence for some seconds.

"On second thought, I am a third of a journalist," he finally said. "You know Millie, (ed's note: Mrs. Considine) and what a fat chance I have to chase women.

"And my latest and typical experience in outwitting the police occured recently when I took the kids and the dog for a walk in Central Park. I absently-minded put the leash on the kids and let the dog run free.

"For this, the cop gave me a ticket. By coincidence, the cop's name was Considine, too I thought for old time's sake, the guy would tear up the ticket and tell me to go and sin no more.

"But he gave me two tickets: one for letting the dog run free and one for keeping the kids on a leash. Cost me $10. I feel this is a fair and typical example of how I constantly outwit the police."

MR. MIKE JOHNSON, the recent Pulitzer Prize winner, pondered Mr. Rouleau's words seriously and then said with considerable dignity:

"I have never outwitted the police."

Mr. Charles Einstein of the sports department, when asked if he chased women, drank and outwitted cops, said "Sure and you may quote me. Ever since I got into this business, I have wanted to be a reporter just like in the movies. So, despite a wife and two children, I will appreciate it if you will help spread the rumor."

Mr. Andre Peron, European editor, shrugged and said: "A Journalist should waste his time outwitting police!"

IT WAS MR. James (Jimmy) Kilgallen' 41 years in the business, who was the most enlightening on the subject.

"It's this way," said Mr. Kilgallen. "There's a great deal of romantic mish-mash and misinformation about newspaper business. In the first place, you know as well as I do that if you or I outwitted a cop and found the body first, he'd pin it on us. And you can't file copy from a jail.

"Furthermore, it is a well-known fact that a journalist's best contacts or informers are politicians, taxi-drivers, chorus girls and bartenders.

"So when I am seen in the presence of a pretty doll, it is strictly for business purposes and because she is a good informant. And when I frequent a bar, it is not for the evil purposes of drink but merely to keep in touch with my contact, the bartender.

"I hope the above statement of principles will clear up these little misunderstandings about the newspaper business," concluded Mr. Kilgallen, "Get my confreres off the hook and give the back of the hand to Mr. Rouleau."

Mass X-Rays Help Detect TB

In 1900, 202 persons out of every 100,000 in the United States were reported as having tuberculosis. In 1948, only 30 per 100,000 were reported as suffering from this disease. Tuberculosis, formerly dreaded as the "white death," is thus becoming less and less significant in this country.

However, about 1,000 Americans are reported as dying each week from tuberculosis, which is still the leading cause of death between the ages of 15 and 35.

The decline in the death rate and number of cases has been credited in part, at least, to the mass tuberculosis surveys throughout the country. These surveys to uncover hidden cases are very helpful in preventing tuberculosis. Every citizen might well have at least one chest X-ray a year, not only to help himself, but to help his community strike out this terrible disease.

Tuberculosis sometimes tends to be not too explosive at first, and many persons with mild cases are walking the streets without any pronounced symptoms. But these persons can easily spread the disease to others. It is these cases in which discovery is important, for it can prevent further spread in the individual himself and to the general population.

As the disease progresses, it brings the symptoms of coughing, spitting up blood, loss of weight, night sweats, and general weakness.

The past few years have seen many advances in the treatment and care of tuberculosis. One of these has been the use of streptomycin, which is effective in early cases. Many a case has been benefited by this drug, used together with early surgical procedure, such as collapse of the lung and injection of air into the pleural cavity. Another drug known as PAS (para-aminosalicylic acid) has recently been found helpful in certain cases when used with streptomycin.

Certain far-advanced cases, in which part of the lung has been destroyed, were formerly believed incurable. However, lung surgery has become more and more perfected, and parts of the diseased lung or even the whole lung have been removed in these cases with excellent results.

Slowly but surely is this disease being conquered.

Questions and Answers

C. P. R.: What would cause a discharge from the navel of an infant?

Answer: The most common cause of discharge from the navel is an infection in that area. However, it may be due to an abnormal passage between the bowel or bladder and the navel.

It would be advisable to have the infant examined by a physician as soon as possible to determine the cause of this condition.

Bethlehem Grange Gives Program For Pleasant Group

Bethlehem Grange members presented the program for a meeting of Pleasant Grange Wednesday night, Nov. 14, at the Pleasant School.

Highlighting the program was a tableau, "Spirit of the Grange," with Miss Marie Bender in charge. Taking part were Mr. and Mrs. Charles McMahan, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fogle, Charles Ulmer, Mrs. George Lust, Misses Jane and Jean Fogle, and Robert Dunlap, with Mrs. Robert Dunlap as pianist, Oscar Kaelber as violinist, and Mrs. John Laucher Jr. and Mrs. Louise Moyer as vocalists.

Also included in the program were an accordion solo by Buddy Bogart, a reading by Betty Fogle, selection by a trumpet trio composed of Robert Kaelber, Woodrow Kaelber and Oscar Kaelber, accompanied by Mrs. Woodrow Kaelber, and a piano solo by Mrs. Kaelber. A contest was held for the children and the program was concluded with the entire group singing "God Bless America."

Wilbur Mochel, master, presided for the meeting during which Carl Hoch gave a report regarding the holding of square dances at the school for students and the community. A discussion followed. Two appeals for aid from Granges were read and contributions of money were voted to be sent to both. Announcement was made that Pleasant Grange will present a program at Tymochtee Grange on Dec. 5.

A potluck supper was served in the school cafeteria following the meeting. At the next meeting, Nov. 28, election of officers will be held.

Many Attend Thanksgiving Service

Florida Pastor Gives Message At Union Program

An audience of more than 250 attended the annual union Thanksgiving service Thursday morning at Prospect Street Methodist Church sponsored by the Marion County Ministerial Association. This was a considerably larger attendance than last year.

The Rev. Wallace E. Haines of Zephyr Hills, Fla., world traveler and evangelist, spoke on "Why I Am Glad I'm an American." In his message he pointed out the many privileges of citizens of this country over those of other nations, showing that by comparison with conditions in Europe, America has much for which to thank God. He mentioned in particular the blessing here of separation of church and state. During the summer he held special religious meetings throughout Germany and Greece.

"America is a place of warm hearted people," he said. "Never before has any one nation done so much for the whole world, as pointed out recently by England's Winston Churchill. It is encouraging to Europeans to know that at least 60 percent of people in this country claim some church affiliation, as in some places on the continent the church percentage among the population is as low as 10 percent. America can give the world a 'spiritual Marshall Plan.' This country is on the verge of a great religious awakening in realization that only God can strengthen the world against Communism." He is in Marion for a series of services at Oakland EUB Church of which the Rev. H. V. Falor is pastor.

Taking part in the service were pastors of other churches in Marion. Invocation and benediction were by the Rev. Evan R. Owens, host pastor. Scripture was read by the Rev. R. L. Sutherland of Greenwood EUB Church, and the Rev. Carl N. Lauer of First Church of the Brethren offered prayer. The Rev. Norman D. Renn of Fite Memorial Baptist Church presented the Thanksgiving proclamation, and Dr. Henry Schaeffer, pastor of St. Paul's English Lutheran Church, was in charge of the offering. The offering has been designated for Church World Service and CROP, overseas relief agencies.

The choir of the host church sang an anthem, "Bless the Lord," Knapp, and offertory was "Now Thank We All Our God," with choral responses. Thanksgiving hymns by the congregation rounded out the service.

Membership Discussed By Legionnaires

District Leaders Meet in Marion To Map Program

A special American Legion meeting to discuss membership and Legion programs for the new year was held Tuesday night, Nov. 20, at the Veterans Memorial Home here.

Fred W. Thacker, commander of Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, presided and introduced the guests.

Speakers were Spencer Britain of Columbus, state post activities director, and Jack Macrea of Columbus, state membership director.

"After you complete your membership work, then help your community," was the theme of the talk made by Mr. Macrea, while Mr. Brittain characterized the group as "key men" or "king pins" of the Legion in this area and presented a cotter key to each person to remind him of his importance in the Legion.

Wick, Smith Talk

Also giving talks were Victor Wick of Waldo, Sixth District commander, and Joe Smith of Mt. Gilead, Sixth District vice commander. A general discussion followed.

Each post officer present pledged Commander Wick enough members by Dec. 7 to bring each post within range of its assigned quota for 1952. Marion Post No. 162 pledged 417 members, and G I. Post No. 584, of Marion, pledged 130 members. On Dec. 7, the tenth anniversary of Pearl Harbor, a victory dinner will be held in the Delaware Legion Home. The special membership drive will be concluded at this time and speaker will be Harry Shaffer, national field representative, who will discuss the national affairs of the Legion.

Present From Marion

Present for the special meeting from Marion, in addition to Mr. Thacker, were William E. Payette, Chris Lagos, commander of Post 584, Richard W. Moore, adjutant of Post No. 162, T. H. McKenney, Dr. H. H. Finney, W. Schmidt, James Miley, R. Stout, J. R. Schwartz, G. G. Metzel, Wayne Willis, D. J. MacDonald, J. A. Dripps, D. E. Bowen, Miss Emily Wolfel, William Park, John Woodcock, Dr. George Pfleiderer, Wilbur Rapp and Earl O. Caldwell. A number of men from the county also were in attendance.

Holiday Death Toll Lowest Since 1948

By The Associated Press

The nation's accidental death toll over the Thanksgiving holiday was the lowest since 1958 and far below last year's record 201.

Traffic accidents, as usual during a holiday period, took the heaviest toll.

A survey showed that since 6 p.m. Wednesday until midnight Thursday 90 persons lost their lives in motor mishaps. Another 30 persons were killed in miscellaneous accidents.

California led the nation in accidental deaths over the holiday with 13 killed in traffic mishaps.

TV Warning Saves Baby From Wrong Medicine

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—Local television viewers witnessed a real life drama when a station interrupted its program with an emergency announcement:

"Here is a special bulletin from Buffalo police headquarters. The man who picked up a prescription from Harry's Pharmacy tonight is warned not to use the medicine. Police say the wrong prescription was handed out."

Sitting at home watching television, Elmer F. Claire, 32, said to his wife, "They must mean us."

Mrs. Claire opened a package her husband had just brought from the drugstore. He thought it contained nose drops for their 10-month-old son but found it was the wrong medicine.

The baby was asleep when Claire brought the package home, so luckily he laid it aside.

Aid to Europe "Aggression" Soviets Say

PARIS, Nov. 23—(AP)—The Soviet Union filed a formal complaint with the United Nations today, charging that the United States is financing armed groups on her territory aimed at the overthrow of Prime Minister Stalin's government.

The Soviet Union last night asked the General Assembly to look into charges that the U. S. Mutual Security Act was intended to foster subversive acts in Communist countries.

In an explanatory note today, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky said U. S. financing through the Mutual Security Act "of subversive organizations and diversionist groups constitutes an act of aggression towards the Soviet Union and the states of the peoples democracies."

The note to the U.N. followed a similar Russian communication to the U. S government on Tuesday. The U. S. State Department dismissed the protest as "groundless propaganda" and said it came with "singular ill-grace" from a regime which has consistently supported "subversive activity against the U. S. and other nations of the free world."

The latest Russian blast against the West came as the assembly marked time on its peace programs with some hope—slim, but existing—that Vishinsky in a scheduled appearance before the U.N. political committee tomorrow would answer the West's disarmament proposals with a speech spelling real peace.

RUSH AID TO FRANCE

PARIS, Nov. 23—(AP)—The U. S. will rush emergency dollar aid to France to forestall a lowering economic crisis, but the exact amount of it won't be known for at least two weeks.

This became known here today as reports circulated that help was on the way. The figure of $200,000,000 was mentioned frequently but American officials on the scene said it was only a guess.

Income Down, Erie Reports

CLEVELAND, Nov. 23 — Erie Railroad net income for the first ten months of 1951 was $8,658,560 or $2.85 a share of common stock before capital and sinking funds, Paul W. Johnston, president, announced today. In the same period a year ago, net income was $10,576,470 of $3.63 per common share.

For October, net income before capital and sinking funds was $1,439,402 or 52 cents a share compared with $1,921,588 or 71 cents in October a year ago.

October operating revenues were $16,512,832, the highest for any one month in the company's history. This compares with $16,504,828 the previous October, an increase of $8,004. For ten months they were $148,692,109 against $136,791,799 a year ago, an increase of $11,900,310 or 8.7 per cent.

Cars loaded on the Erie and received from connections for the first 15 days of November are running 7.5 per cent under last year and 5.8 per cent under last month.

ran up over the curb. Both cars were demolished. The injured were thrown from their autos by the force of the collision. They were taken to the Marion City Hospital in Gunder and Boyd ambulances.

Minor damage was reported when cars driven by Ronald E. Stauffer, 16, of 744 Windsor St. and Clarence Jacobs, 33, of 774 Merkle Ave. collided at Buckeye St. and Davids St. at 3 p.m. Thursday, police reported.

Parked Car Hit

A parked car owned by the Rev. Howard L. Olewiler of 816 E. Church St. was struck and slightly damaged by a car driven by Richard H. Cottrill, 22, of 672 Silver St. The car was parked on Avondale Ave. when the accident occurred at 8:05 p.m. Thursday.

At 10:05 p.m. Wednesday cars driven by Arthur H. Gruber, 18, of near Marion and Harold D. Walker, 23, of near Marion collided at Wallace St. and N. Main St. Police reported minor damage.

HAIL MOSSADEGH

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 23—(AP)—Thousands of Iranians roared a hero's welcome today to Premier Mohammed Mossadegh upon his return from a lengthy but fruitless mission to Washington and a brief but triumphal stay in Cairo. Police estimated 250,000 thronged the airport to greet the frail nationalistic leader.

Cold Wave to Follow Rain In Midwest

By The Associated Press

The East and the South got their promised relief from cold weather but it was wintry weather for Midwest and western states today.

Cold air extended over the upper Great Lakes region, the upper Mississippi Valley and most of the north central plains states. It was on the chilly side westward to the Pacific Coast.

Temperatures dropped to below zero in parts of Minnesota and North Dakota early today. Lower readings were forecast tonight for most of the mid-continent.

Hints May Change U.S. Air War Policy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23—(AP)—Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, air force chief of staff, threw out last night this hint that prolongation of the fighting in Korea may bring a change in U. S. air war policy:

"The outcome of the present truce negotiations holds the key to whether we will continue fighting a war of half-way measures in Korea—a war which, at present, halts our air power at the Yalu River and gives the enemy sanctuary in Manchuria."

KEEPS IKE WAITING

SUPREME ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, EUROPE, Nov. 23—(AP)—Britain's Princess Margaret kept General Dwight D. Eisenhower waiting 20 minutes for their date for tea today. The general, visibly impatient, paced the reception hall at his headquarters until his 21-year-old visitor finally showed up. Allied officers later said it was a chauffeur's fault, that the driver had taken a wrong turn.

The Masonic Building in Weymouth, Mass., originally a church, was built of beams cut for the U. S. Frigate Constitution but rejected by government inspectors.

Consecration Service Scheduled Sunday

LaRue Methodist Church To Dedicate Addition

Service of consecration and the formal opening of the newly completed $60,000 educational unit of the LaRue Methodist Church will be held Sunday. Denominational district and area leaders have places on the program, and special music will mark both morning and afternoon services. A basket dinner follows the morning service of worship.

Dr. Clarence LaRue, superintendent of the Cleveland District, Northeast Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church and a native of the community, will give the morning message. Leading the consecration service will be Dr. Harold Kellogg, superintendent of the Lima District, Ohio Conference, of which the LaRue Church is a part. In the afternoon, Dr. Stanley Smith, Ohio Area secretary of the denomination, will speak. Rev. Leland Wiley is the pastor.

Study session in the new class rooms will precede morning worship under direction of the Sunday School superintendent, Earl James, at 9:30. At worship, the Young People's Choir will sing "Faith of Our Fathers," Wilson, and "The Lord Is My Light," Ellen Lorenz, directed by Mrs. William Stanbro.

Sermon Theme

Dr. LaRue will use as his theme "King of Kings and Lord of Lords." A special solo by Mrs. Stanbro will be "Bless This House," Brahe. As a part of the consecration service, Howard Bailey, building committee chairman, will make presentation of the building.

Afternoon service will be at 2, opening with song service by the congregation and "Adoration of God," Lorenz, and "Jacob's Ladder," Wilson. Dr. Smith will speak on "The Expanding Church." He will be introduced by Dr. Kellogg. Ivan Cooper will sing.

Prof. Karl Holder of Ada, chairman of the music department and director of choir at Ohio Northern University, will direct congregational singing from 2 to 2:30.

Thoroughly modern in construction, the two-story 32x70 ft. brick addition to the old brick church makes room for the expanding activities of the congregation not only in it educational program but in its social life. The large space of the first floor provides both an auditorium and dining room.

Eight Classrooms

On the second floor are eight classrooms accommodating an average of 20 students. There are rest rooms and three storage rooms. Downstairs besides the auditorium are the church office, kitchen, and rest rooms. Capacity of the auditorium area, which will be used for Junior Sunday School assembly, is 250. A feature of the auditorium is the stage. Partitions on the upper floor are the modern folding curtains. Though ready for occupancy, phases of the construction are yet to be done. Towers are to be added at a later date. The new addition is located at the east end of the old part of the church to which it is connected. Total cost will exceed $61,000, not including furnishings in the rooms.

Much credit for the success of the building program goes to many who have contributed in various ways, spokesmen for the congregation state. Organizations of the church and individuals not only in the church family but in the community generally have given generously in time and labor as well as financially. Recognition is given volunteer workmen, the services of those who wrote letters and made telephone calls or otherwise helped in the cause.

In the long view of the total project church officials observed, "While we may establish a cash cost of the work there will always be the knowledge we have invested far more than can be represented in figures. The fruits of the investment will only come as we see results in the days ahead. We anticipate continued growth in the church, and the salvation of men and women, boys and girls, as we continue under the guidance of God and His Holy Spirit."

Taught Sunday School Class

The coming of Dr. LaRue for the celebration recalls an earlier day in the church's progress. His parents, William and Maggie LaRue, were ardent Methodists, and it was at the altar of the LaRue Church that he dedicated himself to Christian living, and in the church he became a Sunday School teacher and Epworth League president. His father was a farmer of the community. After teaching country school, Dr. LaRue completed theological training and became a member of the Methodist West Ohio Conference, and has been active in state Methodism in numerous capacities. Before becoming a district superintendent, his last pastorate was at Canton.

History of the LaRue Church goes back to the first Methodist meeting in Montgomery Township in the Jones cabin on what is now the John McElhaney farm. It was the year 1833. Twelve years later marked the beginning of the Methodist meeting in LaRue. A series of "protracted meetings" was held in the barn of Maj. LaRue in 1845. Another 12 years later, the LaRue congregation of four was recognized as a church on the Marseilles Charge, 1856. First quarterly conference was held in LaRue in 1861, and work was begun on the first church building two years later. It was dedicated Jan. 16, 1870. Contract for the building was let at a cost of $1,200. The LaRue Church became the head of a new circuit in 1866.

Lay Cornerstone in 1895

After a revival meeting of extensive results in 1884, 83 members were added to the church. A Ladies' Aid and Industrial Society was organized in 1892. The next year, there was need for a new building to provide sufficient space for public worship. This building project was undertaken at an estimated cost of $4,000. Cornerstone to the present brick building was laid Aug. 10, 1895. Total cost was $7,000. The building was dedicated Dec. 15.

After continued growth, the congregation became independent from circuit affiliation, and took the status of a station or one-church work in 1927. Simultaneous with the union of three branches of Methodism in 1938, the LaRue Church moved forward. The need for added facilities was recognized, and it was decided to launch another building program.

Remarkable is the fact that the first contribution was signed "From a Sunday School Boy" and was for the sum of $3.25. This gift was presented by Harley LaRue from a fund which he had been saving for the purpose! The fund continued to grow, and in November, 1946, an estimate of $30,000 was set on the proposed new building.

Architect Engaged

Jan. 14, 1947, Boyd G. Martin of Columbus was engaged as architect, and plans were approved by the congregation Feb. proved by the congregation Feb. 23. The first contract was signed Feb. 4, last year, with Ray Hopper of Delaware. This was a labor contract, and the building committee assumed responsibility of purchasing all supplies. Other contracts were signed soon after, including heating and plumbing, steel, roof, cement, glass, and others. Construction was begun March 8.

On the building committee were the church trustees, Howard Bailey, Riley Hoagland, Maurice Clements, Leslie Adams, Delbert Greenwood, Dr. R. A. Dietrich, W. E. Selanders, J. S. Mulvaine and W. E. Thew.

The program committee for Sunday includes Rev. Wiley, Mr. Bailey, Mr. Hoagland, Fred Adams, Mrs. Albert Amstutz, Mrs. Doris Virden, Mrs. William Trihaft, Earl James, Mrs. William Stanbro and Miss Lena Dale Mulvaine.

Dolly Madison, wife of the 4th U. S. President, used a $1,500 horse-drawn chariot in Washington. It would be equivalent to a high-priced custom-built sports car today.

THE HIGH SCHOOL SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS is pictured above in its meeting place on the second floor of the LaRue Church addition. The two-story building contains eight classrooms, auditorium, kitchen and office.

NURSERY DEPARTMENT CHILDREN are shown above in their new Sunday School meeting place. Construction on the two-story brick addition began March 8 and was completed this month.

DR. HAROLD F. KELLOGG, superintendent of the Lima district which includes the LaRue church, will lead the service of consecration.

DR. CLARENCE LARUE, Cleveland district superintendent for the Methodist Church and a native of LaRue, will give the message at the dedication program.

Stolen Auto Involved In Accident

Driver, Formerly Of Marion, Held For Investigation

A former Marion man is being held in Galion City Jail by the state highway patrol for investigation of auto larceny. He was apprehended Thursday at 3 p.m. after an automobile accident on Route 30-S, half a mile east of Iberia.

Lee Crawford Jr., 28, formerly of Marion, was driving a car owned by Robert Germann of Galion when he collided with a car driven by Mrs. Evelyn P. Thomas of 641 Miami St. The Germann car turned over and was extensively damaged and the Thomas car was damaged slightly. Both were traveling west.

Car Was Stolen

Patrolmen learned later that the Galion police department had received a report that Germann's car, a 1948 Mercury coach, had been stolen at 2:45 p.m. from the Galion business district.

Another accident Thursday and one this morning were reported by the patrol.

Cars driven by Homer R. Miller, 22, of Winona Lakes, Ind., and Richard I. Smith, 39, of near Galion sideswiped at 8:45 a.m. Thursday on Route 30-N, just east of Oceola. The left side of Miller's car was extensively damaged. Minor damage to the Smith car was reported.

Truck Knocks Down Poles

Harland C. Foster, 26, of Dansville, N. Y., lost control of his tractor and semi-trailer on Route 42, two miles south of Cardington, this morning at 6:20 and went off the road, knocking down two telephone poles. The trailer turned over on its side in a ditch. Extensive damage to the outfit was reported.

Carl E. Lampe, 32, of Tiffin was arrested by patrolmen at 8:30 p.m. Thursday on a charge of speeding on Route 23. He pleaded guilty before L. C. Schoenberger, justice of the peace in Upper Sandusky, and was fined $15 and costs.

MT. GILEAD—The Morrow County Health Board is scheduled to meet soon to organize the County Health Department for the coming year. Morrow County has been without the services of a Health Department most of the past year because of a lack of funds. A five-tenths operating levy approved by Morrow County voters at the Nov. 6 election will permit the operation of the department at full strength for the coming year.

Father Sends Two Sons to Jail To Break Dope Habit

NEW YORK, Nov. 23—(AP)—A heartbroken father has sent two sons to jail within the past week—to stop them from using dope, and perhaps cure them of the habit permanently.

Last Thursday Rafael Charres, 55, tearfully signed a narcotics complaint against his 20-year-old son, Frank.

Yesterday, his heart even heavier, the father signed a similar complaint against 18-year-old Antonio.

Both youths had received treatment in a federal institution at Lexington, Ky., but since they were discharged, they drifted back into the dope habit.

Authorities have promised to try to rehabilitate the youths, who must stay in jail pending further court action.

They are not angry with their father. They're grateful, both said, and hope they can be cured.

A Foreign Policy For Americans

By Senator Robert A. Taft

CHAPTER 8

The Russian Menace. How Do We Meet It in Europe?

PART 1

THE special problems of Europe and its importance to the cause of freedom throughout the world force us to act there more vigorously and make some exceptions to the general rules of policy.

SENATOR TAFT

Our cultural background springs from Europe, and many of our basic principles of liberty and justice were derived from European nations. American language and ideas, American institutions, and American methods of thought are largely derived from Europe. Our principles of government and our institutions are certainly more like those of Europe than like those of any other parts of the world.

We recognize a common interest in promoting the prosperity of the entire world, through increasing our interchange of products, by encouraging trade and commerce. The overwhelming majority of the American people have the kindliest feelings for the people of Western Europe and certainly desire our relations to remain on the most friendly basis.

It is also true that outside of the United States the greatest productive ability of the world is centered in Europe, and the industrial capacity of Western Europe if added unimpaired to Russian capacity would make Russia a more dangerous threat to the United States than it is today.

To some extent this argument may be overdone. Let us look at the actual situation which would exist in case of war.

Those European nations have asked us to go to war against Russia if Russia attacks them. We have agreed to do so. That means that if Russia does attack there will be a full-scale war, and it is likely that war will be fought to the end. During that war the industrial potential of Western Europe can hardly be organized in time to be of great military value to the Russians. Industrial plants would be destroyed by bombing. The whole economy of these countries would be completely upset, as it was in World War II.

The ability of Russia to restore European industry when it has once been disorganized cannot compare with our ability, and yet it took four years after the war and billions of our dollars to restore Europe to its industrial potential.

Not One Country

There is one other point that I would like to bring out. We speak of Western Europe as if it were a single country. It is nothing of the kind, and the efforts to make it such have completely failed up to this time.

I believe that an alliance with England and a defense of the British Isles are far more important than an alliance with any continental nation and offer a much greater hope of success. With a British alliance there can be little doubt of our complete control of sea and air throughout the world. The British may be heard to get on with and we may have many differences with them, but I believe that both of us are determined to reconcile those differences.

The problem of Italy is almost entirely separable from that of the rest of Europe. Italy can only be defended as a separate project, and some modification of the Italian Treaty is required if there is to be any defense of Italy at all.

Germany, of course, is in a special situation. The Russian zone already extends far across Germany, at one point to within 80 miles of the Rhine. The best military opinion considers the defense of Germany impossible short of the Rhine, which would put most of Germany again under Russian control. Naturally enough, the Germans are not much interested in establishing an army, if war could only lead to their being another battleground between nations.

No Unity Yet

France is the only other large country, and its problems again are almost completely individual. Certainly France cannot be defended by us unless it shows a great interest in a strong army of its own.

It has been American policy to try to unify Western Europe, economically and politically, but that policy certainly has not been successful up to this time, and I am afraid it is contrary to human nature and geography. There is nothing even resembling a customs union, and only a slight relaxation of trade restrictions. The Benelux Union, which was supposed to set an example, has never become effective, because of the inability of reconciling the economic condition of Holland with that of Belgium. The Schuman Plan is encouraging, but Great Britain, the most important industrial nation in Western Europe, has refused to join.

The questions we have to meet with respect to Europe may be classified as follows:

1. Shall we give large financial economic aid to European countries out of taxes levied on the American taxpayer?

2. Shall we give arms, equipment, and supplies from the same source to arm these countries and to encourage them to arm themselves?

3. Shall we agree to go to their defense if they are attacked by Russia or anyone else?

4. Shall we commit American troops in time of peace to an international army to be stationed in Europe?

We've Given Billions

Those who desire to commit American troops to Europe in time of peace have talked a good deal about our running out on Europe, if we refuse to follow their policy. I think it ought to be pointed out that we have given billions for the purposes of financial economic aid, we have given billions for arms, equipment, and supplies, and we have definitely agreed to go to the defense of these countries if they are attacked.

The sum of all this is probably the greatest support that one nation has ever given to other nations in the history of the world, and if a war actually occurred we probably would be supplying at least half of the total support for that war, even if we sent no troops whatsoever.

In the field of economic aid we have been committing billions of our taxpayers' money since the war. Following lend-lease, we supported various minor projects, including UNRAA; then we committed some six billion dollars to the two Bretton Woods projects. We extended a loan of four billion to Great Britain. We are carrying through the Marshall Plan at a total cost of something in the neighborhood of 15 billion. All of this aid has been extended to Western Europe out of all proportion to our aid to the rest of the world.

Before the Russian threat I was very dubious about the policy of advancing money to Europe in such large amounts, certainly when General Marshall proposed to include Soviet Russia. Certainly it is unwise for any nation to become dependent upon the charity of another nation, and it is just as bad for the country receiving the charity as it is costly to the country which gives it.

Recovery In Western Europe

The question today, however, is hardly an issue on which there is a serious split. Once the Russian threat was apparent I was in favor of the Marshall Plan, in order that these countries might be able to meet communism more swiftly and effectively.

But in 1951 the Western European countries have recovered, and their production in most cases far exceeds their prewar production. Aid of this kind today is far more justfied to meet a famine in India or an influx of immigration in Israel than it is to support a European country able to support itself.

With regard to the giving of arms aid at the expense of the American taxpayer, I believe that this general policy is correct, subject to certain conditions. In the first place, it ought to be fairly clear that the nations to which aid is extended are really threatened by Communist attack. I have never favored the giving of arms aid indiscriminately to South American countries.

In the second place, the amount must be within the capacity of the United States to include in its budget and in its program of production.

In the third place, I do not think arms aid should be given in such a way as to lead Russia to believe that an attack is contemplated against Russia itself and so incite it to a war which it might not otherwise undertake.

In Asia, Too

I supported the bills for the arming of Greece and Turkey. I am quite willing to support arms aid to Great Britain and France to the extent that they are not able to arm themselves, although the providing of such arms should be a first call on their own budgets, and arms aid should not be provided by the United States simply to prevent some slight reduction in their civilian standard of living.

We should long ago have supplied much greater support in the matter of arms and equipment to the Nationalist Government of China. We should never have left Korea until the Korean Army was fully armed against a possible attack by the North Koreans. We have finally adopted the policy of arming the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa. But whether we are doing it is another question.

In this field, as in all other fields of aid, Europe has had the lion's share of our assistance, and the importance of Europe has been fully recognized in that program and in the military aid which we are now contemplating.

TOMORROW: Senator Taft continues his discussion of meeting the Russian threat in Europe and explains our obligations under the Atlantic Pact.

TRY OUT NEW OXYGEN SYSTEM. At Harper Hospital in Detroit, Nurse Helen Tokash (top) turns valve in the nursery, and the life-giving oxygen pours into incuabors from a main supply source elsewhere in the building. At bottom, Harvey Caddell, chief engineer, checks gauges on the huge liquid oxygen tank. The new system has eliminated the need for transporting cumbersome oxygen tanks from room to room in a hospital.

Cancer Research Laboratory Going Up at Ohio State

COLUMBUS, Nov. 23—(AP)—Construction is scheduled to start next month on a five-story cancer research laboratory at Ohio State University Health Center.

The laboratory will cost about $657,000 and will take a year to build. It will be of steel frame construction, rather than reinforced concrete like other buildings in the $15,500,000 health center.

Dr. Charles A. Doan, dean of the College of Medicine and director of research, hailed the cancer laboratory as "the epitome of progress in modern medicine research."

He said other laboratories will be added as money becomes available and the building eventually will be 11 stories high.

Dr. Doan said the laboratory will be a monument to the late Dr. Herman A. Hoster, who devoted his life to research on Hodgkin's disease, a form of cancer.

From O.L.C. of Berkeley, Calif.: "May I apply now for the college students' draft deferment test to be given Dec. 13?"

No. The deadline on the December test was Nov. 5. But you have until midnight March 10, 1952, to get an application postmarked for the next test, to be given April 24, 1952.

From D.H.N. of Salt Lake City, Utah: "I heard any GI loan I get will run only until July 25, 1957. Is this correct?"

No. The deadline for getting a GI loan is July 25, 1957. But it may be repaid over a much longer period. The term of a loan is always settled between the veteborrower and the lender, but certain maximum periods are set. Home loans may not run for more than 25 years on homes costing $12,000 or less, or for more than 20 years on homes costing more than $12,000. Farm loans may not run for more than 40 years and business loans for not more than 10 years.

From R.T.R. of New York, N. Y.: "I'll be 21 next February and am likely to be drafted soon. If I must go into the Army I'd like to get a job doing something constructive instead of destructive. Isn't there a job I can do in the Army without fighting?"

Yes. If your draft board will classify you 1-A-O the Army will assign you to non-combat training and service as a medical corpsman. The job of a medic is a dangerous but heroic one. He goes to the front lines unarmed and brings back the wounded.

But to be classified 1-A-O you must "by reason of religious training and belief be conscientiously opposed to combatant training and services in the armed forces."

The draft law says religious training and belief is "an individual's belief in a relation to a Supreme Being involving duties superior to those arising from any human relation, but does not include essentially political, sociological or philosophical views or a merely personal moral code."

If your draft board does NOT think your objections to combat fall within this definition, it will probably classify you 1-A. The Army could then assign you to any duty, combat or non-combat. But even after that the Army might still give you training as a medic.

From Pvt. G.P. of Camp Pickett, Va.: "I was drafted last March for 21 months. I've heard a lot of talk that draftees now must serve 24 months. Is this true?"

Yes. No matter when they were inducted, all draftees must now serve a total of 24 months.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

As Bess Conway opened the door of the room which we knew must be her sleeping quarters, I felt a little tingling thrill crawling along my spine, and a look at Mildred Grey's eyes told me that she was as excited as I was.

We knew that the brilliant FBI operative who was assisting my father in his latest — and most difficult — case, was planning to disguise herself so that the tall man of whom she had caught a glimpse from the hotel elevator would not recognize her as the girl with a different name whom he had known. And when the door opened again, our thrills were justified. I never would have known the pudgy, dumpy figure, indifferently dressed, who emerged from the bedroom.

Even her face had changed, although I could detect no disguising make-up. But she had managed to narrow her eyes, enlarge her mouth, plump out her cheeks, and give herself a vacuous smile which made her absolutely unrecognizable as the exquisitely beautiful and alluring "French marquise" whom we had known.

"Well," she said with a vacant grin, "did you ever see the 'likes of me' before?"

As if moved by a single impulse, Mildred Grey and I clapped our hands vigorously, and I made the mental comment that Bess must have marvelous histrionic talent. In looks, voice and actions, the dumpy, plumpish "birdbrain" who stood grinning at us was as unlike the Bess Conway whom we had known as—as—I groped for a simile, and gave up the quest as hopeless.

When we finished our enthusiastic applause, I answered her question.

"I've seen 'your likes' before," I told her, laughing, "but not in your usual setting. How did you ever do it?"

"Nothing much," she said, "a bit of stuffing here and there, a certain knowledge of supposedly fool-proof make-up, and a trick of making your eyes behave instead of misbehave, as, I am afraid, mine are wont to do"—she gave us her old grin at that—"and the trick is turned. Do you really think I can fool my tall friend?"

"Unless he is a master of theatrical make-up, he'd never dream you were the girl he had met," I told her. "There is only one person I know who wouldn't be fooled by your get-up."

"Who is that?" she said, patently interested.

"Mr. Underwood, back at the hotel," I told her. "He can make himself completely over—and he can detect any impersonation, any disguise. But you won't have to waste any time on him. Inside our hotel you won't have to bother; you'll be safe. And outside its sanctuary, I'm sure your disguise is absolutely 'foolproof.'"

"I'm glad," she said, with a little sigh of relief, although I doubted that she felt any qualms. She was too sure of herself and her capabilities—justifiably so, I admitted—to have any doubts as to the efficacy of her impersonation. Then she went to a closet and brought back a hat and a coat so dowdy that Mildred and I gasped when she put them on, for they made almost a ghastly figure out of her.

"We're going back through the hotel the same way we came, aren't we?" she asked anxiously, as she surveyed herself in a big mirror. "I don't' mind Adams, but I'd disgrace you forever if I trotted through the lobby with you."

BG Dominates All-Buckeye League Eleven

DETROIT LIONS COMPLETE A PASS. A long pass thrown by Detroit Lions quarterback Bobby Layne is about to hit the outstretched arms of End Dorne Dibble in second quarter against the Green Bay Packers at Detroit, Mich. Green Bay Back Harper Davis (25), brought him down on the Packers' 18-yard line.

Pick Taylor, McClain From HardingHigh

Tats Taylor, Harding High School tackle, was the only Prexy named to a first string berth on the 1951 All-Buckeye League team.

Eddie Morse was named to an end post on the second team while Jimmy Russell and Tom McClain were backfield choices for the second eleven. George Kasotis received honorable mention.

The team was selected by the coaches of the five football schools. Two members of the undefeated Fremont Ross crew were unanimous choices of the coaches. Guard Bob Biggs and John Lewis were named on every ballot.

Big Surprise

Biggest surprise in the totals was the showing of Bowling Green's Bobcats. Five members of the BG crew gained first-team recognition, including Quarterback Don George. Mooney was placed at one end, Essex took over at tackle, Urshel was center and Presti placed at another backfield slot. George and Presti of Bowling Green, Johnson of Fostoria and Jerome Surratt of Fremont tied in the number of votes. League leading Fremont placed only four men on the first team.

Individual selections of the coaches were as follows:

FIRST TEAM

Tackles—Taylor (ETAOIN 2
Ends — Tate (Fos.), Mooney (BG).
Tackles — Taylor (Mar.), Essex (BG).
Guards—Biggs (Fre.), Burkett (Fre.).
Center—Urshel (BG).
Backs — George (BG), Lewis (Fre.), Presti (BG), Johnson (Fos.), and Surratt (Fre.).

SECOND TEAM

Ends — Dible (Fos.), Morse (Mar.).
Tackles—Simms (Fre.), Sprow (Fos.).
Guards—Franks (BG), Chase (BG).
Center—Jones (Fre.).
Backs—Foggs (Fos.), McClain (Mar.), Lewis (BG), Russell (Mar.).

HONORABLE MENTION

End—Whittacre (BG).
Tackle—McCarthy (Fre.), and Kasotis (Mar.).
Backs—Creighton (Fin.).

County Cagers See Action In Three Games

Claridon, Donians And Morral Post Victories

Caledonia posted the first victory in the Marion County Basketball League Wednesday night by edging to a one-point win over New Bloomington in an overtime contest.

Other league schools also saw action Wednesday in non-league encounters. Claridon managed a 48-45 win over Chesterville and Morral bumped Richwood, 41-33.

Coach Merle Weston's Morral cagers rolled to their third straight win at Richwood. After playing to a 7-all tie in the first period, Morral managed to take a 20-13 edge at the half. In the final two periods, they pulled away from the Tigers. At one time in the second quarter, Richwood held a 19-12 lead but an 8-point splurge wiped out that margin.

Paces Scoring

Ron Craycraft paced the scoring with 18 points while Dick Griffith was high for the losers with 13. The Morral reserves also posted their third straight win by downing the Richwood Juniors, 38-24. Cheney and Shearer were high for Richwood with six. Hensel posted five for Morral.

Claridon was forced to come from behind in downing Chesterville. The Hornets trailed, 12-7, at the quarter and 31-25 at the half. The verdict was clinched in the third frame when Claridon posted 12 points while holding Chesterville to a total of four.

Paul Augenstein dumped 11 points to lead the winners while Jack Griffiths added 10. Gilt was high for Chesterville with 13. The Claridon reserves dropped a 38-27 decision to the Morrow County school.

Caledonia edged New Bloomington, 43-42, in an overtime on the Donian's hardcourt. Joe Green came through with three foul shots in the extra quarter to ice the contest.

Joe Kirk, Donian center, tossed in 15 points to take individual scoring honors.

It was the first County League game of the season.

Got a Right to Sing the Blues

Brown Concerned Over His "Sluggish" Gridmen

CLEVELAND, Nov. 23—(AP)—Coach Paul Brown expressed concern today about what he called the "sluggish" appearance of his Cleveland Browns in practice for the Chicago Bears game Sunday.

"Why if the way they look in practice is any criterion of how they will play Sunday, we sure are due for a thumping," the affable mentor explained.

"They look a lot like they did just before we played the Philadelphia Eagles—and I mean it!" he added with emphasis.

What happened in the Eagles' game isn't what the champion Browns would like to go through very often. Behind by 10 points at the half, they eked out a 20-17 victory on Lou Groza's field goal in the last quarter.

The Browns are leading the American conference of the National Football League and are an overwhelming favorite to win the division title.

Singing Blues

But Brown isn't counting his titles until the last whistle blows and is singing the blues, as usual.

"I never have believed that because we beat the New York Giants last week, we were a cinch to win the division," he declared. "We know we are faced with a fight right down to the wire. . . . and if the Bears win Sunday, it won't come as any surprise to me."

The Bears are tied with the Los Angeles Rams and the Detroit Lions for the lead in the league's national conference. Cleveland beat the Bears, 32-21, in an exhibition this year, but this will be their first league meeting.

"We are not being misled by that exhibition victory," Brown is quick to point out. "Halas (Coach George Halas) uses exhibition games as a grapefruit league to try out players and make experiments.

"And besides, because of the All-Star game, we had been brought along a lot faster than they had."

Mental Factors

Brown also is worried about the weather and the mental factors involved in the game. Present indications are that the field will be soft, perhaps even mushy. The Browns like a dry field.

Because of the Bears' power-running type of play, however, Brown figures soggy turf wouldn't bother them as much as it would the Browns' precision play.

The mental angle centers around the question of whether Brown can get the team "up" again this week as they were in last Sunday's 10-0 triumph over the Giants.

Bright Incident May End Relations

DES MOINES, Nov. 23—(AP)—The Des Moines Tribune reported yesterday that "there was every indication that Drake University was on the verge of breaking athletic relations with Oklahoma A. & M. over the Johnny Bright incident, but nobody in authority would say so."

The incident concerns the broken jaw Bright suffered in a game at Oklahoma A. & M. on Oct. 20. Drake has said that Bright, its Negro halfback, was slugged deliberately by Wilbanks Smith, Aggie tackle.

Bucks Renew Bitter Rivalry At Ann Arbor

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 23—(AP)—The Wolverines play the Bucks Saturday at Ann Arbor in a game no one ever takes lightly.

And—judging from both teams' performances this year — that's about all you can say about this traditional end-of-season clash between Michigan and Ohio State.

You might say Ohio State's likely to lose it; they haven't won a Michigan till since 1944. But if the Bucks play the football they did last week in holding Illinois to a scoreless tie, the consensus is they'll come out on top.

Coach Woody Hayes, who was presented with a fireplace set by downtown quarterbacks Wednesday night, would like nothing better to fire up the place than an Ohio victory.

Jerry Krischer, 235-pound freshman center, and Jim Reichenbach, 212-pound freshman guard, both from Massillon, will see offensive action Saturday, Hayes said. Jim Dugger, brother of State's All-American Jack Dugger, has worked himself into a starting role on offense.

The Michigan game will blow taps for All-American Vic Janowicz's college football career, and will start speculation about what he'll do next.

The game will be televised nationally.

Illini Out To End Voodoo Of Wildcats

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 23—(AP)—Undefeated but once-tied Illinois will tangle with an old-time and tenacious rival, Northwestern, tomorrow with about everything at stake college football has to offer—a league title and bowl trip.

A win or a tie would give the Illini, the nation's 6th ranking team, the Big Ten crown and send them packing for the Rose Bowl.

A defeat would make them just an also-ran for the season and set up the honors for Wisconsin or Purdue.

The Badgers and boilermakers each have a mathematical chance to sneak in to the top spot. Purdue, which has won 3 and lost 1, could win the title and Rose Bowl bid by a victory over Indiana and a Northwestern win. The Badgers need a win over Minnesota and defeats by Purdue and Illinois to take top honors. They have a 4-1-1 record.

In the last 4 years Northwestern has had the voodoo sign on Illinois, winning each time to keep Eliot from ever ringing up a victory over the Wildcats' young coach, Bob Voigts.

Illinois, in a scoreless tie with Ohio State last week, was held without a point for the first time since 1947. Before the Illini had bumped into the Buckeyes they had compiled 167 points in defeating UCLA, Wisconsin, Syracuse, Washington, Indiana, Michigan and Iowa.

A year ago the Illini had defeated Ohio State handily and entered the Northwestern game ballooned with overconfidence.

That's why Coach Ray Eliot now says that the scoreless tie with the Buckeyes last week probably did more good than anything else in getting the team ready for Northwestern tomorrow.

Suspend 14 Defiance High School Athletes

DEFIANCE, O., Nov. 23—(AP)—Fourteen Defiance High School athletes have been suspended from all activities for attending a drinking party in a deserted farmhouse, the school athletic board announced Thursday.

A board spokesman said 16 boys attended the party Nov. 10, but two of them were not on any athletic team. Twelve were on the football team and 2 are basketball players.

He said the suspension will run until Nov. 10, 1952. The suspension was a disciplinary measure under a school policy which forbids drinking or smoking by any member of an athletic team, he said. No names were disclosed.

Baker, Henry In Top TV Fight Tonight

NEW YORK, Nov. 23—(AP)—Hulky Bob Baker of Pittsburgh was rated a 9-5 choice to whip Clarence Henry in Madison Square Garden tonight and earn a shot at ex-heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles.

This is the showpiece for both boys. They've been climbing steadily up the ladder. Baker, unbeaten in 26 bouts, has moved to a No. 4 ranking. Henry, with a 38-3-1 record, is right behind Baker.

A crowd of 7,000 or 8,000 probably will watch the 10-rounder in the garden but other fans will aye their clast via NBC's network telecast.

"This is it," said Baker. "This is my big chance. Make a hit in New York and on TV, and you're in the dough. I guess Henry feels the same way. It will be blood and guts in there."

Henry is fully aware of the importance of the bout to his future.

"Yeah, this is the big one," said the Los Angeles Negro, "and Baker is a big guy. But so was Ambrel Davidson and other guys I knocked out. I got a good left hand. If Baker can be hit, I'll hit him."

Nichols, Mercer In Draw at Armory

Jackie Nichols and Marvin Mercer wrestled to a draw in the main event last night at the armory.

Mercer, defending his junior heavyweight title, took the first fall in 32 minutes with a drop kick. Nichols came back strong to take the second with a body grape vine. Time ran out before the start of the third fall and a draw was called.

Ida May, who subbed for Carol Carota, defeated Loraine Johnson in the semi-final bout. She took the first fall in 21 minutes while Johnson took the second in 12 minutes with a back flip. Ida May came back to win the third, and deciding fall, in seven minutes.

In a preliminary bout, Bobby Watts won over Al Cortez when the Mexican grappler was disqualified in 21 minutes.

OPS Grants Price Boosts

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23—(AP)—The prices of Packard motor cars are due to rise tomorrow. And in some areas there may be an increase soon in the prices of bread and bakery sweets.

A government order issued yesterday authorized Packard motor car dealers to raise prices of passenger cars by amounts ranging from $116.12 to $185.05.

The special order issue for Packard is the first of a series to be put out covering every make of passenger automobiles. Others will be issued in the near future, the Office of Price Stabilization said.

OPS said the new auto prices reflect increases in the factory wholesale prices approved for Packard Oct. 23.

Officials of the agency said last night a new regulation affecting 29,000 bakeries will be issued Monday and may send some bread prices up one cent on a one-pound loaf in certain areas.

The bakery order would mean that bakers who did not raise their prices before the general freeze order of Jan. 26 or who were caught with their prices lower than prevailing levels would now be able to raise them.

An OPS official said the order will apply to "bread and bakery sweet goods" such as cakes, pies and doughnuts. It will not mean a general price rise in bread, OPS said.

Two Fire Calls Made In New Bloomington

NEW BLOOMINGTON, Nov. 23—Two fire calls were answered Wednesday and Thursday by the New Bloomington volunteer fire department.

An oil furnace blew up Thursday at 6 p.m. at the Foster home in New Bloomington causing damage to the floor, ceiling and a cupboard. No estimate of the loss was made.

Slight damage, mostly from smoke, resulted when an oil stove caught fire Wednesday noon at the Devore home in New Bloomington.

It will take 2,000 pictures to give an overall picture of the heavens in great depth, the California Institute of Technology estimates.

THE ANNUNCIATION

(One of a series of six weekly installments picturing the story of Christmas)

By Dierick Bouts, 15th Century artist, National Gallery of Arts

THE angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth,

To a virgin espoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary.

And the angel came in unto her and said, Hail, thou that art highly favoured, the Lord is with thee: blessed art thou among women.

And when she saw him, she was troubled at his saying, and cast in her mind what manner of salutation this should be.

And the angel said unto her, Fear not, Mary: for thou hast found favor with God.

And, behold, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bring forth a son, and shalt call his name JESUS.

He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the Highest: And the Lord God shall give unto him the throne of his father David:

And he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end.

Then said Mary unto the angel, How shall this be, seeing I know not a man?

And the angel answered and said unto her, The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee: Therefore also that holy thing which shall be born of thee shall be called the Son of God.

COUNCIL GROUP MEETS

Nevada Pioneer Council Group No. 1 met with Mr. and Mrs. Ira Pool of near Wyandot recently with 20 members and two guests present. Election of officers was held. Those elected included: Elza Neiderhauser, vice president; Luther Kinsey, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Pool, discussion leader. The topic for the evening, "Must Accidents Happen" was discussed by the group.

FOR 98-CENT THEFT Mrs. Marie Callende, a 58-year-old grandmother, breaks down in court at Los Angeles, Calif., a minute before she was sentenced to prison for one to five years. She was convicted of stealing candy and gum worth 98 cents. She has a record of seven previous convictions for petty thefts. Her attorney, Milton M. White, told the court she has an uncontrollable desire to take little things from stores.

Because of the influx of money and equipment into oil-rich Saudi Arabia, this primitive nomadic country is making a jump of centuries of technical progress in a few years.

Mayor Thankful Game Comes But Once A Year

Special To The Star

MARYSVILLE—"Well, it comes only once a year," commented Mayor G. L. Gingsmore, former Heidelberg College football and basketball star and former coach of Marysville High School athletic teams.

Now junior high school principal, high school athletic director and three-time mayor of Marysville, he was speaking of the Ohio State-Illinois homecoming game at Columbus. Most Ohio western and northwestern auto traffic passing through Marysville for Ohio Stadium games.

During the homecoming weekend motorists from Cleveland, Lima, Bellefontaine, Toledo, Ada, Botkins, Bryan, Sidney and Detroit came before the mayor on state highway patrolmen's charges that ranged from crossing a yellow line to driving while intoxicated. There were road blocks on both state routes 33 and 4.

Fines levied by the mayor ranged from $10 to $100, the largest was against each of two persons accused of driving while intoxicated. Charges filed included crossing yellow line, not having driver's license, driving while intoxicated, not having proper license plates, and speeding up to 90 miles an hour.

Trains Crash In NY, 27 Hurt

NEW YORK, Nov. 23—(AP)—Officials began investigating today the Thanksgiving morning collision of two electric trains moving abreast through a narrow tunnel under Park Avenue.

Twenty-seven passengers were injured yesterday, two of them critically, as two eight-car New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad trains sideswiped in an impact of crunching steel and flying glass.

Although the trains were moving north at only 10 miles an hour, the crash caused parts of the trains to smash against opposite sides of the tunnel while one coach ripped through a concrete retaining wall.

Involved in the accident were a local headed for Stamford, Conn., and an express bound for New Haven, Conn.

Many of the 1,100 passengers aboard the two trains were bound for holiday destinations.

New Haven railroad officials had no immediate explanation for the cause of yesterday's collision. However, police said the express, specially put into service to help handle the holiday rush, went through a switch.

Traffic was blocked in and out of Grand Central Terminal for three hours before three of the four tracks could be cleared. Some 20,000 commuters and holiday visitors were stranded.

FIRE DESTROYS HATCHERY

McCONNELSVILLE, O., Nov. 23—(AP)—Fire Thursday killed about 10,000 chicks and destroyed the Hambleton Hatcheries near here. Sheriff Ray Doak estimated the loss at $25,000.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Two Oceans at Once

"This is an old team starting a new trade," remarked Edward R. Murrow at the outset of "See It Now," CBS's enormously impressive new television news show (CBS-TV 3:30 p.m. EST Sundays). He was seated in the control room of Studio 41—a logical spot, he explained, to start out from — and presently he called on Camera 1 to bring in the Atlantic Ocean.

The Atlantic Ocean, a small wet segment of it, swam into view on one monitor screen. Then Murrow called on the crew in San Francisco to show us the Pacific. The Pacific, overhung with San Francisco's customary fog, was a less telegenic body of water, but we did catch a glimpse of it.

John Crosby

Then Murrow, more or less acting as quarterback, called on his crews to show us first the San Francisco Bay Bridge, then the Brooklyn Bridge, the New York skyline, then San Francisco's skyline—all on live television.

"We are impressed," said Murrow, "by a medium in which a man sitting in his living room has been able for the first time to look at two oceans at once."

I AM, TOO. I am also impressed by the intelligence of the men—chiefly Murrow and his producer, Fred W. Friendly — who dreamed up this simple trick to bring home to the viewers the wonder of this electronic miracle. "See It Now," which has been in preparation for six months, is the logical extension to the highly successful album or records, "I Can Hear It Now," and to its radio counter part, the Peobody-award winning "Hear It Now." It is not—and is not intended to be—a complete review of the week's news; it is instead an almost entirely new form of journalism, "told in the voices and faces" of the people who made the news, a technique that offers a deeper insight into the headlines and the people who make them—who they are and what sort of people they are.

There was, for example, a film of Winston Churchill during his London Guildhall speech, an aged, aged Churchill, the great voice dimmed by time, the prose style—though a great improvement on Clement Attlee's — subdued into just a whisper of its former thunder. A deeply revelatory picture it was. There were other pictures—of Eden in Paris telling Vishinsky to stop laughing and read the disarmament proposal, of Sen. Taft purring with a cat-like contentment while Sen. Dirksen told an assmblage what a great candidate he was.

MURROW—HANDSOME, relaxed, urbane — sewed the pictures together with a running commentary which, I should say, neither over-played nor underplayed the significance of the events, and also conducted interviews with some of the CBS news staff members — Eric Severeid, in Washington, Howard K. Smith, in Paris. Smith remarked good naturedly of the relations between Russia and the West that "the mutual ill-will is entirely unimpaired.")

Then Mr. Murrow shifted us to Korea for one of the most intimate and instructive glimpses into that battleground that I have yet seen. This bit was especially remarkable in its avoidance of all the news-reel cliches. There wasn't a single shot of a soldier yanking a lanyard on a 105-mm. cannon, no shots of bombers tearing great holes in the Korean real estate. Instead, the cameras concentrated on the soldiers of Fox Company of an infantry regiment, catching them as they ate and slept and gambled and groused and joked, catching the tedium of warfare, the waiting, the humor of an essentially unhumorous occupation, the humanity of an essentially inhuman profession

RECEIVE DRAFT CALLS

MT. GILEAD — An estimated call of 11 to be inducted into the service from Morrow County in January has been received by the Morrow County draft board, it was announced this week by Mrs. Ruth Pittman, clerk. An estimated call for 10 in December has also been received.

NEVADA GROUP MEETS

NEVADA—The Bethany class of the Lutheran Sunday School held a meeting in the church parlors recently with Mrs. Earl Lombard presiding. Twenty members were present. Mrs. Will Zimmerman gave devotions. A committee including Mrs. Raymond Creger, Mrs. Joseph Strohm and Mrs. Russell Keltner named the following officers for 1952: president, Mrs. John Welch; vice president, Mrs. Russell Keltner; secretary, Mrs. Ray Gilliland; assistant, Mrs. James Smalley, and treasurer, Mrs. Ray Albin.

BLOODMOBILE SCHEDULED

MT. GILEAD—Next visit of the American Red Cross Bloodmobile to Morrow County will be at the Trinity Methodist Church in Mt. Gilead Nov. 29. Quota for the coming visit is 125 pints according to F. O. Van Sickle chairman of the blood program for the Red Cross.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK, Nov. 23—(UP)—Stocks moved irregularly at the opening today in moderately active dealings.

Investors continued to display a considerable amount of caution pending developments in the foreign situation.

Price changes throughout the list were small either way. A large number of stocks also held at their previous close. Some issues were bolstered on favorable corporate developments.

A few low-priced issues dominated dealings at the opening. Steel equities moved irregularly. Automotives moved the same way. Utilities were dull.

Greenlands largest export, icebergs, hit a new low this year.

None of Greenland's 10,000 to 15,000 icebergs succeeded this year in reaching the crowded shipping lanes between North America and Europe.

Some superstitious Chinese believe that eating dogs' flesh gives courage. They use asbestos, moths, snakeskins, seal kidneys, powdered crabs, four-legged ducks and two-headed turtles in their medicine.

ENDING LONG RETIREMENT. "America's Sweetheart" of silent movie days - Mary Pickford, now 58—is coming out of a long retirement for a one-picture comeback, it is announced in New York. When she last appeared on the screen in "Secrets" in 1933, she planned never to face the cameras again, but now says she has found "the one and only story" that could induce her to return—"The Library."

WHAT'DYA SAY? President Truman leans over the speaker's table, hand to ear, as he tries to hear a remark directed to him from a guest at the dinner of the National Women's Democratic Club. The President was caught in this informal, unposed position prior to his speech before the women Democrats. He flew to Washington, D. C., for the dinner from his vacation spot in Key West, Fla.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

An Ohio woman threatened with divorce if she votes for Truman again lost her separation suit but still has her ballot.

* * *

The court ruled that the husband's order did not constitute cruelty to his wife even if it did to Harry.

* * *

No position was taken in the judicial record on Eisenhower Taft Warren or the prohibition candidate.

The prohibition candidate is the first fellow to really clinch the nomination of his party and being a cowboy it is fitting that he cinched it.

The cowboy is running as a mounted dry and while the others are kissing babies he will be nuzzling up to us on a pinto pony.

His campaign slogan hasn't come out yet but I bet it will be 'If you are going to change horses in midstream try mine'

Must Replace Those Ending Duty Tour

More Reservists to Face Recall to Active Duty

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23—(UP)—The armed services expect to call up more reservists to help replace those it releases, a United Press survey showed today.

The great call-up of reserves after outbreak of the Korean war yanked 740,000 Americans back into uniform in the first 15 months, the services revealed.

Now some reservists who were called back are ending their tours of duty.

Congress has provided that World War II veteran officers called back from the inactive and volunteer reserves must be released as soon as possible after 17 months of active duty—or in the case of enlisted men, no more than 16 months, effective Nov. 30.

Reserves called back with organized units and those who returned voluntarily must serve 24 months.

Here is a breakdown of the reserve picture by services:

ARMY

The Army called up 322,000 reserves by Sept. 20. This includes 52,000 officers and 123,000 enlisted men called as individuals, 5,000 officers and 20,000 men with organized reserve units and 10,000 officers and 103,000 men in the National Guard, including six entire divisions.

The Army has called two more National Guard divisions for 1952, and will call a third later in the year. The 37th Infantry Division, from Ohio, will go on active duty on or about Jan. 15 at Camp Polk, La. The 44th Infantry Division will enter active duty about Feb. 15 and be stationed at Camp Cooke, Calif.

More than 100,000 enlisted reservists who entered the Army from the inactive and volunteer reserves are being released before Dec. 20. Officers in this category will be released after 17 months.

The National Guard and organized reserve units serve 24 months, and so do reservists who voluntarily returned.

The Army must replace the men it releases to maintain its strength of 1,552,000 men. It does not yet know how many replacements it will need.

Army officials said they will call some organized reserve units to duty, but have no intention now of calling up individual enlisted reservists who are not in units.

NAVY

The Navy had 181,037 reservists on active duty Sept. 30. As of last June 30, it had called 6,480 officers and 53,109 men from organized units (those which received pay for training), 17,469 officers and 90,142 men from volunteer (no pay) units and 82 officers and 4,433 men who were reservists outside of organized units.

It released 1,185 officers and 14,834 enlisted men during the Korean war period up to Sept. 30, 1951.

The Navy plans to call 50,000 reservists in the current fiscal year. Of these, 6,000 will be petty officers. The rest of the enlisted group, 36,000 will be non-veterans with little if any active duty, Navy officials said.

The 8,000 officers to be called will be non-veterans "to the greatest extent possible."

The Navy is releasing about 93,000 enlisted veterans recalled to duty from non-drill-pay status as they reach 16 months active service.

The Navy said it does not plan to call veterans from the inactive reserve after Jan. 1.

AIR FORCE

The Air Force has called 110,000 reservists, including 51,000 from its organized reserve and 59,000 from the volunteer air reserve. In addition, Air National Guard units called to active duty include 38,000 men, 52 percent of them pilots.

The Air Force is not now calling up men involuntarily from its volunteer (no pay) reserve. Airmen who volunteer for duty must serve 24 months, the same as those called in with units of the organized air reserve and Air National Guard. Officers who return to the Air Force voluntarily now serve indefinitely.

But officers recalled before last June 19 may be released from the Air Force after 21 months—17 months if they were veterans of one year service in World War II. Airmen called against their will from those who volunteered from this class may be released after 12 months or serve longer if they wish.

The Air Force has ordered release before Christmas of enlisted airmen called to duty against their will from the volunteer (non-pay) reserve. The order affects about 2,000 airmen. Success of the enlistment program made possible the order.

MARINE CORPS

The Marines called about 89,000 reservists back to the corps by last Sept. 30. These included about 3,000 officers and 34,000 enlisted men in organized units, and 4,300 officers and 47,700 from the volunteer reserve.

The Marine Corps does not intend to call up any more organized reserve units—nearly all are in uniform now. A few volunteer reserves may be called—principally specialists such as pilots. Most volunteer enlisted reserves below staff sergeant rank have been called.

The corps has its own plan for release of reservists after 12 months active duty on a priority plan, World War II veterans first, the peacetime veterans, then Marines over draft age and finally reservists with no prior active duty. All enlisted reserves will be out by the end of next June in these categories.

All Marine reserve officers will be released after 21 months.

Too Soon

THE report of failure being drafted by the United Nations Palestine conciliation commission may be a starting point for a better understanding of trouble in the Middle East.

The better understanding may grow out of realization that it is too soon to settle the troublesome problems of that region. Or perhaps it is too late to settle them; the effect is going to be the same.

There is going to be no sweetness and light. There is going to be no intelligent cooperation, and there is going to be no love lost. Israeli and the Arabian rulers are not going to get along together. The Iranians are not going to fall on their faces in gratitude because the British built the world's largest oil refinery at Abadan. The Egyptians are not going to thank whatever gods there may be for the Suez Canal and the British garrison which protects it after a fashion. The United States is not going to be thanked for taking the job of keeping the Mediterranean sea lanes open.

Throughout the world, more problems are not going to be solved in the immediate future than are going to be solved. Many of these are in the Middle East. The U.N. commission charged with conciliating the quarrel in Palestine is about to acknowledge that its task is—always was—impossible.

Total War

A SOUTH Korean atrocity report (250,000 civilians and 7,000 captured soldiers killed by Communists) further confirms the fact that the whole war in Korea is atrocious. If the war drags on so long that one side or the other finally uses atomic bombs, the atrociousness will be compounded.

It is not likely to be discussed seriously in this country, but the Chinese Communists and North Koreans are hammering away on the atrocity theme, too. From their point of view, the most atrocious aspects of the war are bombings by U.N. planes and the widespread use of Napalm (jellied gasoline) by the enemy.

When there has been time to gain perspective on atrocities in Korea it will be somewhat clearer than it is now that total war is atrocious by its nature. The objective of total war is to destroy the enemy's ability to fight. The United States will continue to be as humane to prisoners and civilians as possible because this is a humanitarian country. But even the United States was capable of going to the ultimate limit of total war at Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Something Subtracted

ARGENTINA'S famous newspaper La Prensa has reappeared after 10 months of suppression by the Peron government. But something has been subtracted.

It now serves Juan Peron, his wife and their political associates. While there is no law against this arrangement in Argentina, or in the United States, it violates every principle of democratic freedom.

La Prensa was put out of business by political pressure. It was put out of business because it refused to toady to a political pressure group. Though the group already had its own newspapers, it was determined to have the one which was most respected because it was not controlled by the government. So it went to work on La Prensa, forcing it out of business so eventually it could be published again by the political bosses, under the same name but with no rig... to its own opinion.

When newspaper workers are chided for being over-apprehensive about the possible loss of the people's right to have a press and radio independent of politicians, they can cite the case of La Prensa in Argentina. It happened there. It can happen wherever people grow careless about their freedom.

On the Take

AFTER the grassfire of scandal has burned out confidence in the Bureau of Internal Revenue, the Hoover Commission's recommendation of some system of independent auditing in the department will be accepted without argument. The barn will be locked after the horse has been stolen.

Here is a department handling billions of dollars of public money by methods which invite cheating. As more is learned about the methods of cheating which were used, the public is going to realize the setup was made to order for appointees and employes on the take.

Then as millions of taxpayers remember how much trouble they have been caused by income tax forms and occasional interviews with investigators, popular resentment will begin to boil. It will boil over on or about next March 15, the deadline for settling up tax accounts for 1951.

Disclosures of wrongdoing in the Bureau of Internal Revenue are the most damaging thing that has happened to the Truman Administration. There is room for differences of opinion on nearly everything. But there is no room for a difference of opinion about the degree of honesty required among tax collectors. Like Caesar's wife, they must be above suspicion.

Facts About Atrocities

By George E. Sokolsky

Pentagon Accused of Knowing Story Long Ago

THE PENTAGON has photographic and detailed information concerning the Korean atrocities when General Douglas MacArthur was in command there. That the Chinese Communists were killing American prisoners of war therefore was known to all intelligence agencies operating in Korea. The suppression of the story was obviously political so that the United Nations, our British allies, and the Soviet Chinese enemy might not be embarrassed.

SOKOLSKY

If this statement is doubted or challenged, there is one way of proving or disproving it. A congressional committee can put General Douglas MacArthur, General Charles A. Willoughby, and General Walter Bedell Smith of the Central Intelligence Agency on the witness stand and have them testify under oath. I am sure that in open session, under oath, at least two of them will testify that the information Colonel James M. Hanley disclosed was sent to the Pentagon through channels. A competent investigation would traverse those channels to the highest authority who received the facts and details of the massacres and ordered their suppression.

THIS IS A SERIOUS charge to make and I do it only because I have traversed some areas of this problem and know that, so far as I can go, the facts are as here stated. To go further would require the power of subpena.

There is another point to make. From 1918 to 1931, I was with Chinese armies, often being very close to their commanders in personal friendships. During that entire period, I never saw a prisoner of war camp although the Chinese were then at war against each other, killing off huge numbers. I am sure that I saw the first modern military hospital at Shanghai, operated by Drs. W. S. and W. L. New, Chinese educated in England and the United States, but I never even heard of a prisoner of war camp.

The usual method of handling defeated enemies was to disarm them and send them home or to incorporate them in the conquering army. I have witnessed both processes. As a Chinese soldier's tool is his rifle, his problem used to be to keep that instrument as a private possession. A soldier with a rifle had a better chance of getting into the conquering army than a soldier without one.

THE VANQUISHED soldiers who were disarmed and sent home usually joined some bandit band which was engaged in ravishing the country either in association with a local war lord or against him. I have known bandits of both kinds. In North China, the role of bandit and soldier was interchangeable with startling constancy.

I have witnessed soldiers being strung on poles or their heads put on top of bridges as a symbol to frighten others. In my day in China, this was not unusual and was accepted casually.

The cost of maintaining, feeding and guarding prisoners of war is high in any country. In a low standard of living country like China, the cost is beyond the means of armies which are living off the country. Therefore, when it was impossible to send disarmed soldiers home or impractical to incorporate them in the conqueror's army, the cheapest way to handle the situation was to kill them. As a matter of fact, life is so cheap in the Orient that it must be unbelievable to them that we feed our captives better than they feed their own soldiers.

THIS IS the background that undoubtedly was known to our military authorities when they went into the Korean war. They must have known that Chinese fight to kill, that they are not merciful, that they particularly enjoy murdering their "exploiters," that is, the so-called Europeans, which includes Americans. They had the experience of the Nanking massacre in 1927 when the Communists murdered whomever they could, particularly foreigners. Before that, there was ample evidence going back to the day of the Boxer rebellion.

But even if we are to assume that nobody in the Pentagon has any background, an incorrect assumption, it is true and under the processes I recommend demonstrable that our government was informed by its own military intelligence out of Tokyo that the Chinese Communists were massacring American prisoners of war.

The data was ignored. The Pentagon was then regarding everything that General MacArthur and his staff reported with suspicion because they knew that he wanted to fight not a halting but a winning war. They preferred Acheson's dialectics to MacArthur's facts.

And now we have it—100,000 and more casualties; perhaps 20,000 dead.

Cotton Corners

By TRUMAN TWILL

DEAR NEPHEW: The more I hear, the less I know. They keep telling me that the most important people right now are engineers, which I doubt. I find no evidence that engineers are to be trusted. So far, they are nothing but glorified mechanics, with much knowledge about machinery, no knowledge about people. Until they show signs of professional responsibility, I will not trust them.

Philosophers are what we need, to keep engineers from gearing us up so high we'll kill ourselves and to keep politicians from hiring engineers to blow us off the earth with atomic explosions. We need people who can give us a sense of purpose and a little confidence in what's left of human dignity after two wars and frantic preparations for a third one to get rid of Communists.

I keep thinking I have seen the so-called Communists before somewhere. I thought so last night while I was thumbing through Thoreau. He was surrounded by commies, under some other name. Mankind always has been cursed with them. Who knows? Maybe they are the gadflies of civilization.

In any case, I don't believe they are the result of anything which has happened in the 20th century, or the 19th century, for that matter. I believe they are a kind of human being—a kind that has been with us always and will be with us always. They are called by different names at different periods, but they are always the same.

They are jealous of whatever superiority they became aware of in their neighbors, jealous to the point of flying into an insane rage. They cannot be happy until they have done whatever they can to prove that no one is any better than they are.

In their commonest form, the reds are the kind of people who trample flower beds to show their contempt for the people who planted the flowers. They are the well-known types who are always looking for a chance to do dirt to anyone who looks as though he might be getting an edge on them. They will stir up trouble for the sake of trouble.

They are the types who cannot bear to be bested in any contest of truth, therefore will fall back on the most fantastic lies to keep this from happening to them. They are well-bent on organizing everything they can lay their hands on, for the sole purpose of controlling it to suit themselves.

As far as I can see from my easy chair, all the Communist conspirators of modern times have done is to sign up these people for their cause. The strategy is to exploit all the discontent they can discover among men, so the conspirators can make hay while the guns are booming and the knives flashing.

I have seen the same thing happen on a small scale in neighborhoods where spiteful women have set out to make life miserable for everybody they hated. The only thing that has kept it from happening throughout the world is that philosophers, both academic and practical, refused to let mankind be destroyed by its inexhaustible capacity for spitework.

Judge Streit on Morals in Colleges

By Raymond Moley

THE FULL TEXT of Judge Saul Streit's statement in sentencing "fixed" basketball players should be printed in every educational journal in the land. In that way or in some other way the presidents and governing powers of our colleges should be shamed or frightened or otherwise persuaded to do what most of them have shirked doing up to date.

MOLEY

By pure accident of newspaper composition, perhaps, there appeared in the New York Times directly opposite Judge Streit's arraignment of college morals a picture of nine top college administrators from various states having a great laugh over something at which they were looking. The document could not have been the judge's statement. For it is no laughing matter.

It has long been an unctuous academic habit over the country to sneer at Tammany Hall. Therefore, it is an ironic turn of events that Judge Saul Streit is a man who grew up in Tammany Hall. When I knew him first, he was in the state legislature. Later he rose to be a General Sessions' judge. The morals he has found in college athletics are apparently worse than anything he knew in politics.

THE JUDGE'S immediate duty was the sentencing of five players and one fixer to stiff prison terms. Nine more prison sentences were suspended. In dealing out this punishment, he remarked that this exposure is only "a small glimpse" of the commercialism that prevails in intercollegiate basketball and football.

While these defendants were from New York institutions, the judge made it clear that the practices revealed were quite general over the nation. Most of the defendants before entering college had offers from colleges as far south as Georgia and as far west as California. Specifically, he said that one of the defendants "was offered and did accept from Cincinnati University scholarships both for himself and his brother which included tuition, board, a job, $50 a month expense money, and the use of a car." These brothers stayed only two days and then went elsewhere, apparently where the picking was better. Michigan, William and Mary, Ohio State, Denver University, and other institutions came in for no flattering mention. The judge continued:

"The son of one of the clerks of my court, now on the Princeton varsity team, five months before graduating from high school received no less than 15 offers from various colleges, ranging from tuition alone to tuition and emoluments valued at approximately $2,700 a year."

* * *

ALMOST UNBELIEVABLE tampering with records of grades was revealed in this trial. The judge pointed out that one of the guilty boys came to the City College of New York with a high school average of 70.43, but the transcript filed at the college showed 75.5. This still being low, the college gave him a high school examination and a grade of 89.4. A recomputation of the results of that examination showed, however, only 70.62. The judge says that the high school transfer sheets show "a possible alteration, and the upper right hand corner is torn."

More apparent tampering with grades were found in other cases.

The judge says further that with the full knowledge of coaches many basketball players made $1,500 to $2,000 per summer for services in resorts which were payments for basketball playing.

It did not need this sordid trial and conviction to tell the heads of our institutions of learning that they were permitting this sort of business to flourish. The president of a New York college denied a few years ago that he knew gambling was going on at Madison Square Garden, but nearly everyone else knew it. And he did not know, apparently, that one of the players in the uniform of his institution was not even registered—to say nothing of attending classes or passing examinations.

THE FIXERS involved are the scum of the earth, of course. The boys themselves are no unsophisticated lambs, as this trial has shown. The coaches have been callous to wrong-doing. But the heads of these and many other institutions have been either blind or stupid or men of soft conscience.

Cooking on Mountain Top

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON

BOILING water is not so hot way up on the mountain top and cake-baking up there isn't the same as it is for sea-level housewives. High-altitude cookery, therefore, is a special problem for home economist and home management specialists who try to teach modern homemaking methods to women in the Rocky Mountain region.

Ingredients in recipes and timing schedules have to be adjusted for homemakers who live 5,000 feet, or more, above sea-level, says Miss Christine Justin, home economist in the Office of Experiment Stations, U.S. Department of Agriculture here. This is because the air pressure becomes less as altitude increases, she says, and the higher the altitude, the lower the temperature at which water boils.

Miss Justin comes from Vernon, Tex., where there are no problems about altitude. A graduate of the Texas State College for Women, she came to the Department of Agriculture in 1943, where she was a marketing specialist.

In Colorado, the high-altitude testing laboratory is especially interested in problems of baking, she said. "The higher the altitude the less leavening you need," she said. "It's a right simple scheme, though. For instance, in a two-egg cake from a teaspoon and a half of baking powder at 5,000 feet, to a teaspoon and a fourth at 7,500 feet. At 10,000 feet you use one teaspoonful."

To help home bakers, the Colorado experiment station got out a bulletin this year entitled, "Mile-high Cakes."

"If you are not technically-minded," Miss Justin said, "you just can't follow the ordinary recipes. If you did, you'd have cakes that literally boil over. The book gives requirements for every level from 5,000 feet up. There's always a reduction in sugar and an increase in liquid as you climb higher."

Miss Justin says vegetables cooked by boiling also have to be boiled longer. Canning times are longer too. The Department of Agriculture's canning bulletin gives adjusting directions for each 1,000 feet of altitude. Pressure saucepans, Miss Justin says, are especially useful for "cooking on high."

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Hunting in early days of Marion County not only provided food for the pioneer and his family but also clothing. Many evenings were spent dressing deer skins. It took two buckskins to make a pair of pants for a man and two fawn skins to make a pair for a boy. Fawn skins also were used to fashion dresses for the little girls in the family.

The Once Over

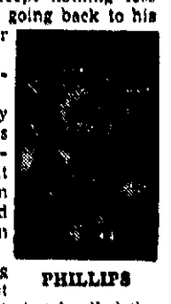
"Well, I see Eric Johnston quit the price control job without even taking his case to U.N."

"Yeah. He says he will accept nothing less than complete freedom and is going back to his old job as high commissioner of baseball."



PHILLIPS

"They will have trouble getting a successor."

"Sure. Not even Happy Chandler will take it. It looks like Washington can't get anywhere with controls unless it goes back to the Baruch plan for a two-platoon system and a cease-fire agreement between the public and the OPS."

"President Truman is having a nice time down in Key West where he is stopping at that big hotel called the Palais de Chaillot."

"Yes, but do you think he came out against barracuda too early in the campaign?"

"You can't tell until you hear how Taft stands on the barracuda issue. He says they are Truman's barracuda and he is stuck with them."

"I see Winston Churchill is coming over to this country during the first quarter of the next fiscal year. What for?"

"It's something about how far a ten-year-old boy can throw a dollar across the Rappahannock. Churchill also wants to find out how the Democrats stand on the Suez Canal or something."

"Do you think there will be an early truce in Korea or is Mossadegh too stubborn?"

"It all depends on whether Harriman can bring both sides together."

"Ain't it a shame about the U.N. meetings over in Paris at the Casa Marina? They can't even agree on who gets the Sudan in case Iran loses to Formosa."

"All Vishinsky does is to laugh and hold doves over his head every time Truman's plan to stop inflation is mentioned."

* * *

"What do you think of the political situation? Do you believe the story that Truman called in Taft and offered to back him if he would run as a Democrat!"

"That wasn't Taft; it was Governor Tom Warren wasn't it?"

"Maybe I'm thinking of Earl Stassen."

"Are you following those tax bureau scandals? Every day there are new cases despite the Atlantic Pact and all those loans."

"There's only one cheerful thing in the news, . . . Russia is going to give Truman back those two icebreakers."

"Well, with the President in Florida they're just about the last thing he needs!"

THE DEEP FREEZE

The coldest specimen of bird life on earth just flew into our window. It's the white dove that Andrei Vishinsky held over his head a few days ago for the photographers at the Paris U.N. session. It made the trip across the seas in record time, considering its state of frigidity. We placed it in the oven after it had handed us this verse:

He took me in his Russian fist
And held me, grimmingly, above;
Oh, U.N., I've been crossed by you. . . .

News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO—It was Sunday, Nov. 23, 1941.

FOUR persons were admitted to Bucyrus City Hospital, two unconscious and with possible skull fractures, following an automobile collision at an intersection of two county roads south of Sycamore in Wyandot County. Most seriously injured were Mrs. Ida Miller, 70, of near Bloomville, and Mrs. Willis Binau of Lovell.

In preparation for launching a "Go to Church" attendance campaign the next Sunday, a group of men of the Marion Kiwanis Club, sponsors of the campaign, met at the headquarters to classify cards turned in to date by the canvassers who had been busy in the city for several weeks.

Mrs. Alice Egger, 76, ill for the last year, died in her home at 851 N. State St.

A daughter was born at the Frederick C. Smith Clinic to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Branum of 101 W. Walnut St.

Mrs. Gladys Wilford of 352 N. Main St. and Miss Mayme Cook of Huron, O., left to spend the winter in Miami, Fla.

The custom of open church was followed when Miss Betty Shearer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Shearer of 657 Cleveland Ave., became the bride of Robert Forsythe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Forsythe of Uhler Ave., at 4 o'clock in the First Church of the Nazarene.

TWENTY YEARS AGO—It was Monday, Nov. 23, 1931.

Permission to issue securities to finance purchase of the C., D. & M. Traction Co. of Marion and utility property in Mt. Gilead was asked of the state utilities commission by the Ohio Electric Power Co. of Sidney.

Mrs. Alice J. Rodgers, 77, well known in Epworth M. E. Church circles, died at her home at 211 Windsor St.

Mrs. W. L. Warner was hostess to members of the Woman's Club at her home on E. Church St., and the members continued their study of "Economic World Problems." The program was in charge of Mrs. Frank H. King.

Through a study of average retail prices, it was determined that Mr. and Mrs. Marion's Thanksgiving dinner on Thursday would cost approximately 25 per cent less than the previous year. Turkey prices were down from three to five cents a pound, with a fair average price seeming to be 35 cents a pound dressed.

More Men Favor Suits Without Vests, Poll Shows

By OVID A MARTIN
Associated Press Farm Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov 23 (AP)—Is the vest doomed

The Agriculture Department asked the question of men in all parts of the country in surveys designed to show future market prospect for wool and other fibers.

The vest lobby—seventy-seven per cent of the men questioned said they wanted vests with their new year-around suit while 9 per cent said they did not. The remaining 14 per cent had no preference

The vest vote was heaviest in rural areas where 81 per cent wanted it and 6 per cent didn't. In cities the vote was 70 per cent for and 9 against.

Men in the 21-to-34 age group voted only 15 per cent against vests. Those in the 35 and 65 voted 57 per cent for

Chief Faults Found

Vests were vetoed as too warm, too confining, too bulky, out of style

During World War II when wool for clothing became scarce no vests were provided for double-breasted suits. Two-pants suits disappeared too

While a majority of the men questioned turned thumbs down on the vest more than half said they wished they could buy suits with two pairs of trousers

Reasons included one coat lasts as long as two pairs of trousers, an extra pair needed while the other is at the cleaners, owner would still have a pair of pants if one pair is damaged and would have one pair for ordinary wear and one for dress-up

Split on Pants

Reasons given by those who did not desire two pairs of pants included cost would be too great, could get a greater variety in wardrobe by limiting suits to one pair of trousers. One man explained that by the time he wore out one pair of pants he was tired of the suit

Demands TV Blackout Of Game Be Lifted

LOUISVILLE, Ky, Nov 23—(UP)—Action from the federal government to lift the television "blackout" of tomorrow's Tennessee-Kentucky football game was demanded today by Gov Laurence Wetherby of Kentucky

In a telegram to U S Attorney General J Howard McGrath, Wetherby said, "I am convinced this suppression amounts to an illegal conspiracy and restraint, and demand action by the anti-trust division"

The game between Sugar Bowl-bound Tennessee and Cotton Bowl-bound Kentucky is not included in the National Collegate Athletic Association's program of games to be televised this season in a nation-wide test of the effect of television on attendance at games

Numerous high public officials, officials of the two schools, and station WHAS-TV have been trying for more than a week to get the NCAA to lift its television ban, without success. Their arguments centered on the theme that the game has already been sold out, and thus television wouldn't affect the attendance in any manner

Yule Shopping Ends in Arrest For Two Girls

Two Marion sisters started out to do their Christmas shopping Wednesday and were arrested when they tried to do it with someone else's money

The two girls, aged 11 and 12, went into the Omar Bakery Store at 117 S Main St about noon Wednesday and asked to leave a couple of packages there

They were given permission to put the packages in the back room of the store and on leaving by the back door, they took a wallet containing $14 from a purse lying on a shelf

Miss Lela Daum, a store employe, noticed the wallet missing from her purse a short time later, just as the two girls, laden with more packages, walked into the store to claim their bundles

Store employes questioned the girls and they admitted taking the money, police said. They were taken into custody by police and were sent home pending an arraignment in juvenile court. The date for the hearing has not been set, police reported

IN A WEDDING CEREMONY Sunday, Nov. 18, in the St. Mary rectory, Miss Vera Jane Graham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Graham of Waldo, became the bride of Pfc. Gene A. Cooper. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hayes H. Cooper of 518 E. Church St. The Rev. Urban Wiggins, assistant pastor of the church, officiated for the ceremony at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mrs. Agler wore a black street length dress accented with pink trim, and pink and black accessories. She wore a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception for 125 guests was held following the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's parents. Bouquets of chrysanthemums in yellow and bronze shades decorated the entrance hall and rooms throughout the house. The bride's table held a tiered wedding cake encircled at the base with yellow baby mums and huckleberry foliage. Today's Fashion Flash

NEW YORK

A TWO-PIECE glove with a three-purpose practicality is the latest gimmick in fashion.

It's the "debutante cotillion glove"—designed by 125 teen age socialites who will make the annual mass debut at the Waldorf-Astoria Dec. 21.

The new hand-coverer is as formal as the classic one-piece kid classic—yet it's a two-piece formal glove made of double woven cotton.

The first piece is a long armlet, cut to leave the fingers free, and caught in position over the thumb with a silver and white plastic cord.

With it is worn the shortest of shorties, a taper-finger glovelet which fastens under the wrist with a single pearl and rhinestone button.

The shortie can be worn separately for informal parties. And the long fingerless section can be worn for dining, dancing or weddings—eliminating the need to cut the ring finger of the bridal glove.

It will be available shortly before Christmas, priced slightly under $10.

Cape Disappointment in southwest Washington was so named as a reminder of the failure of early English and Spanish navigators to discover the mouth of the Columbia River.

Otterbein Brass Ensemble To Present Program

THE second in the fall and winter series of programs presented by the Marion Lecture-Recital Club will be given by the Otterbein Brass Ensemble of Otterbein College Monday night in the ballroom at Hotel Harding. Patronesses will be guests for the program to be presented at 8 o'clock.

The group, which is under the direction of Betty Semple Glover, will present the compositions of Bach, Handel, Mozart, Tschaikowsky and contemporary composers, and an unusual brass choir work by Bonelli.

Appearing as soloist will be John Haberman of Columbus. He studied at Heidelberg College, Tiffin and more recently with Ferris Ohl of that city. He has sung tenor roles in "The Messiah," "Olivet to Calvary" and "Elijah." He also was soloist with the Tiffinian Male Chorus and has sung in church and on radio programs.

Cardington Girl Wed in Toledo

Special to The Star

CARDINGTON—Mr. and Mrs. Orville D. Philbrook of near Cardington are announcing the marriage of their daughter Miss Shirleen Philbrook and Edward R. Ufferman of Marysville.

The wedding took place Saturday in the Clark Street Methodist Church at Toledo with Rev. Frank Le Page, the pastor, and formerly of Cardington, officiating.

The bride was graduated from the Cardington High School in 1950 and the following year attended Taylor University at Upland, Ill. The groom graduated from the Bellpoint High School and is engaged in farming.

Trapped Diver Frees Self In 5-Hour Fight

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23—(AP)—Trapped almost five hours in icy ocean waters, William Wood directed his own rescue from one of his closest scrapes in years of deep sea diving.

The 48-year-old Wood worked two ordinary auto jacks to lift iron bars that pinned him to the wreckage of a sunken barge near the Golden Gate.

Searchlights were played on the scene, ¼ mile off Land's End and scores watched from shore as Wood was lifted aboard his ship, the Salvager, at 7:30 last night.

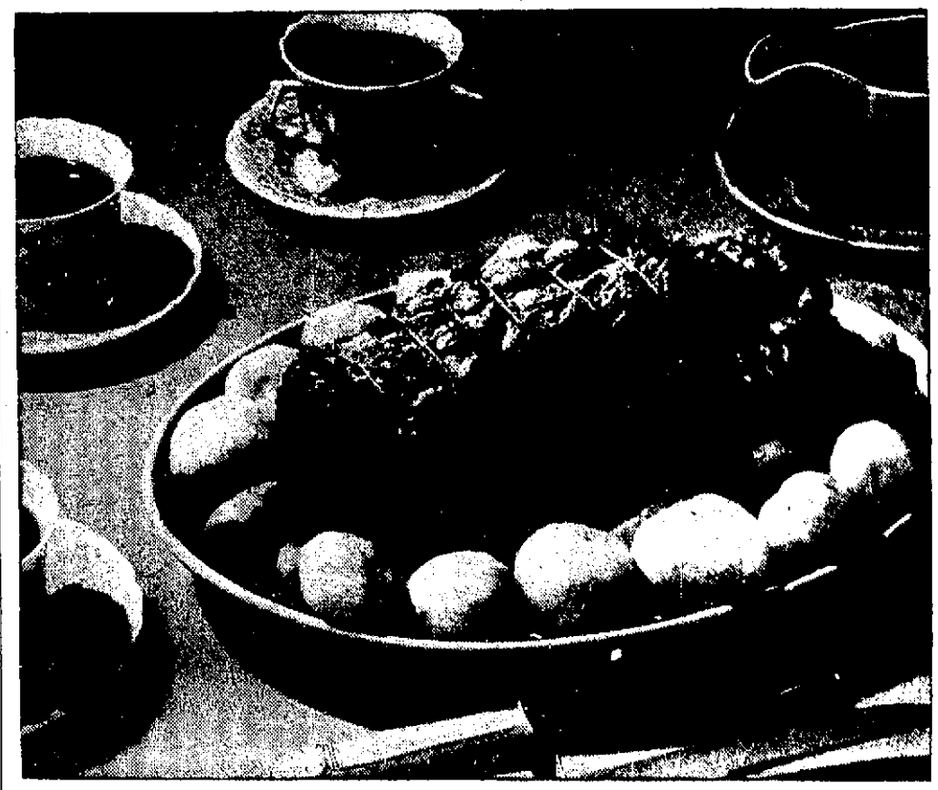
Although he was rushed unconscious to a decompression chamber for treatment against the bends, Wood was found suffering only from shock and exposure.

He told reporters he had started salvage operations he thought might net him "some money for Christmas" for his wife and two daughters in Santa Barbara, Calif. He was seeking to recover brass and copper from a barge that sank off Land's End two years ago.

The tide pushed iron bars over him and pinned his legs and feet. Wood was wearing full divers' equipment. He was 25 feet below the surface.

The treasury department says big bills are disappearing. In 1940 there were 6,000 $10,000 bills in circulation. Today there are only 800. The $5,000 and $1,000 bills have also suffered a decline.

Sauerbraten a Fine, Inexpensive Meat Dish



A RECIPE that shows her the ways and means of getting the most out of the meat dollar is the homemaker's best friend these days. And for ways to extend that wonderful meat flavor and make the cheaper cuts of meat more tasty, you can't do better than to try your hand at sauerbraten. It's the kind of meal you'll remember and the kind of recipe you'll treasure.

SAUERBRATEN

- 4 lbs. beef (rump or round)
- 1 t salt
- ¼ t pepper
- 1 pint vinegar
- 4 bay leaves
- 12 peppercorns
- 4 cloves
- Water
- 1 bunch sliced carrots
- 6 sliced onions
- 3 T butter or other fat
- 1 T sugar
- Sour cream
- Flour

Wipe meat with cloth and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place in earthenware dish, add vinegar and enough water to cover. Add bay leaves, peppercorns and cloves. Cover and place in refrigerator. Leave 3 or 4 days, turning the meat daily. Drain meat and brown it thoroughly in butter or drippings. Add carrots, onions and 2 cups of the spiced liquid. Cover and simmer gently about 3 hours or until tender, adding more of the spiced liquid if needed. Remove meat to a hot platter. Thicken gravy with a little flour, sour cream and sugar. Surround meat with potatoes and carrots. Pour gravy over meat or serve in gravy bowl. Six to eight servings.

Name School For Former Marion Superintendent

The late Jesse H. Mason, at one time superintendent of the Marion city schools, was honored last Sunday when a new school building, named for him, was dedicated in Canton. The new building is named The Jesse Mason Elementary School.

A former resident of Morrow County, Mr. Mason was superintendent of the Canton city schools from 1929 to 1949. He went to Canton from Marion, serving as superintendent here from 1923 to 1929.

Attending the dedication ceremonies was Mason's widow, who now lives in Mt. Gilead.

Governor Names Lehner To Study Group

Marion County Commissioner Carl H. Lehner is one of 36 Ohio civic leaders and public officials named by Gov. Frank J. Lausche to discuss the latest snag in the proposed Ohio Turnpike, The Associated Press reported today.

Mr. Lehner is president of the Ohio County Commissioners' Association. A. J. Moon of Upper Sandusky, president of the Ohio County Engineers' Association, and Rep. Clifton L. Caryl of Marysville, chairman of the House Highway Committee, also were invited by Gov. Lausche to attend the meeting Thursday.

The governor called the conference several days ago when financial institutions said they could not finance the $300,000,000 turnpike across northern Ohio unless the Ohio turnpike law is changed.

They would have the law revised to make it easier to obtain land needed for the turnpike.

Every person who donates blood for the armed forces through the Red Cross receives the same reward—a cup of coffee. Red Cross officials say experience has proved that coffee calms the nervous novice donor, and refreshes the repeaters.

Tax Probers Still Without Gov't Files

Truman Silent On Releasing Records In Justice Dept.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23—(AP)—A House group investigating the nation's tax collection system today neared the date scheduled for hearings into tax fraud prosecutions still lacking Justice Department files it has asked President Truman to order turned over to it.

With hearings set for Monday, a spokesman for the subcommittee said failure to get department records would "hamper" the ways and means subcommittee's efforts to learn why, as Chairman King (D-Calif) put it, cases were dropped at higher levels" without prosecution.

After weeks of negotiation with Attorney General McGrath during which it did not get the type of access to Justice Department files it wanted, the subcommittee appealed to Mr. Truman. At Key West, Fla., presidential press secretary Joseph Short said its request is still "under consideration."

Other Developments

Elsewhere, this was the picture:

1. An impending shake-up of personnel in the Detroit Internal Revenue office reportedly was in prospect. Committee sources said a number of Detroit employes were expected to be reassigned, transferred or suspended.

Senator Moody (D-Mich) recently referred to the group what he termed evidence of irregularities in the Detroit office of the Internal Revenue Bureau. The bureau itself and the House committee conducted investigations. An announcement relating to the inquiry—set originally for this week—is now expected next Monday or Tuesday.

2. A special investigation is being made of J. Frank Wilcox, chief of audits in the Oklahoma City office of the Collector of Internal Revenue. Shortly after the Internal Revenue Bureau made the announcement, Wilcox's attorney disclosed in Oklahoma City that the audit chief had submitted his resignation Nov. 6.

The nature of the investigation was not disclosed. But H. I. Hinds, attorney for Wilcox, issued a statement saying: "I believe Wilcox was quite indiscreet in some instances, but I'm sure he has done no real harm."

3. The House committee prepared a formal report on its preliminary announcement Wednesday that it had found "not one scrap of evidence" that its chairman, Rep. King, had intervened improperly in three southern California tax cases.

3-Day Inquiry

The committee's finding on King resulted from a three-day inquiry, undertaken at King's direction, into rumors that the chairman had exerted improper influence in behalf of certain taxpayers. King denounced the rumors as "malicious in intent" and designed to embarrass the committee.

With or without the Justice Department files its wants, the committee says it is going ahead with public hearings. T. Lamar Caudle, whom Mr. Truman ousted as head of the department tax division is to be a witness.

Adrian W. Dewind, chief committee counsel, told newsmen the investigation would be hampered by lack of department records. But he said it would not prevent the hearings.

"STILL HOPEFUL" MOSSADEGH LEAVES. Concluding a 40-day visit to the United States, Iranian Premier Mohammed Mossadegh waves from a plane at New York Idlewild Airport before flying home. He said he is "still hopeful" of a peaceful settlement of the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute but admitted that "no tangible results" were achieved here.

force with Russian type jets and Russian speaking pilots has broken Allied air supremacy in Korea although the United Nations still holds superiority.

MIGs Nesting

Allied spotter planes recently reported MIGs nesting in Korea for the first time in the war. The field was Ulju. F-86 Sabre jets strafed the field Sunday, caught 11 MIGs on a taxi strip and reported 8 destroyed or damaged.

Then the big superforts hit last night.

The B-29s spilled 100-pound bombs at the 7,100 foot runway and dropped quarter-ton airbursting bombs which hurl jagged chunks of steel at planes hidden in revetments.

Communist jets snarled around the B-29s but FEAF said they made no firing runs.

"The whole sky was full of searchlights," one crewman said. "It looked like they were trying to bracket us."

munist controlled union in the railroad industry.

A similar recommendation relating to other unions was made by the senate group in an earlier report on an investigation of the American Communications Association, an independent union which has been expelled from the CIO.

Labor relations in the railroad and airline industries are governed by the railway labor act; labor relations in other industries are subject to the Taft-Hartley act.

The subcommittee's latest report also proposed amendment of railroad unions to file non-Communist affidavits. The Taft-Hartley act now requires this of other union officers before they may use services of the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB).

Calls for Citation

The subcommittee also called for a contempt of Congress citation against Solon C. Bell, of Chicago, president of the Dining Car and Railroad Food Workers Union, who, the transcript showed, declined to answer numerous questions at a subcommittee hearing on Sept. 25. Bell could not be reached for comment.

Among the questions Bell declined to answer was whether he was a member of the Communist party. He said that to do so might incriminate him.

The subcommittee said Bell was one of the 14 union officers and organizers who were named by witnesses as Communists.

Armistice

sition to any cease-fire line which might become fixed—at least psychologically. U.N. spokesmen have said they feared the Reds would stall the armistice talks interminably if such a line were set.

"If we are going to get ahead on an armistice at all there have to be compromises by both sides," Nuckols replied.

In a separate tent from the negotiators, staff officers began drawing the line of battle contact on a large-scale map. Truce negotiators previously agreed to call in the staff officers to save time.

Lt. Col. Albert M. Butler, plans and operations officer for the U.S. Eighth Army, represented the U.N.

The negotiators have wrangled since July over a single point on the armistice agenda—the creation of a buffer zone.

which lies at the foot of the Alpine Dolomites.

An American Air Force officer directing the search from an Italian air base said information received by radio from Wiesbadan, Germany, reported the wreckage of a plane had been sighted near the mountain village of Pieve Di Cadore.

Report Unconfirmed

However, U. S. Air Force headquarters at Wiesbaden said it had no information on the reported sighting of the wreckage.

Police at Pieve Di Cadore said they heard a plane flying over the area Monday evening. A Rome report said a farmer in the area heard a violent explosion that night. The police said they had not heard of the explosion.

Bad weather has hampered the air search for the plane, which was carrying supplies to the U. S. embassy in Belgrade.
